Computer Ready for Turner Lab

SENIOR PHYSICS MAJOR Dale Yoder, of Kalona, Iowa, is seated at the new computer recently obtained for the Turner X-ray Precision Measurements Lab in Science Hall. Delivered in mid-December were the X-ray power source and spectrometer; more electronics equipment is on the way. Hookup of the equipment, building a heat shield for the spectrometer, and writing computer programs are among the tasks to be done before final measurements on crystals can be made. The date for those measurements is anticipated to be in late spring, according to Dr. Robert C. Buschert, lab director, although preliminary measurements will be able to be taken before then.

Church Music Theme For Spring Events

A three-week seminar in church music and a three-day churchwide music conference will be held at Goshen College in the spring of 1970. Both will use the new Mennonite Hymnal and the Walcker pipe organ, the latter a gift of Mrs. Fannie Rupp Severson.

The seminar, April 27 to May 19, will be taught by Dr. Mary K. Oyer, professor of music, and will be one of the courses offered during the first 3 1/2-week term of the spring trimester. By special plans already completed, persons with little or no college are as welcome to full-time study as those with previous study.

Seminar high lights will be study of various liturgies, including Lutheran, Anglican-Episcopal, and Roman Catholic, and a recital by a well-known organist. The J. D. Hartzler hymnal collection will be used extensively. John Ruth, an authority on American hymnody, will be one of the guest lecturers.

The conference, May 1-3, also under Prof. Oyer, will introduce the new hymnal and organ preludes for its hymns. Myron Casner, long-time church organist, will perform preludes to hymns for which preludes exist. Organ works for other tunes in the hymnal have been commissioned and will be performed for the first time during the conference, which will be their world premiere. Among those playing the new works will be Mrs. Lowell Byler, of Hesston College, and Philip K. Clemens, of Eastern Mennonite College, both GC graduates.

The conference, recitals, guest lecturers, and commissions are being made possible through the kindness of friends of the college.

New Wrinkle in Old Tradition: Community Voluntary Service

An office of Community Voluntary Service was set up in the fall of 1969 to be a resource of ideas and concerns that students and teachers have shared since the beginning days of Goshen College.

Underwritten by a two-year grant from Lilly Endowment, Inc., Community Voluntary Service is set up like an experiment. For example, if students help meet the needs of the campus and community, college should be more relevant to them because service and education are interwoven. And, in doing something for another, a student should be able to develop such values as caring, personal and social responsibility, and service to God and man.

More than 300 students are tutoring, being big brothers and big sisters to children in difficult home situations, leading boys' and girls' clubs, "adopting-a-patient" at local mental hospitals, counseling boys from Chicago street gangs, helping disadvantaged children learn to play independently, helping families with retarded children, and visiting the county home and other convalescents.

Community Voluntary Service cooperates closely with the work of Campus Church. Part-time director of CVS is Ray Bair, pastor of Belmont church of Elkhart.

Alumni Day Set for Saturday, June 20

Saturday, June 20, 1970, has been set as the annual Alumni Day. Activities are being scheduled for reunions of a number of classes, the Alumni Association annual meeting, and a number of special events.

Results from this spring's election of candidates to the Alumni Association's board of directors will be announced on that day.

Focal point for the gatherings will be the campus, with the possibility that some reunions will be held nearby.

More information on the weekend's activities will be forthcoming in future issues of the Bulletin.

Grad Courses Offered By BSU on Campus

Ball State University and Goshen College have joined hands to provide graduate extension courses on the Goshen campus.

The cooperative program is designed primarily to meet the needs of schoolteachers in the Goshen-Elkhart area. The graduate credit they earn may be applied toward an advanced degree at Ball State.

Launched last spring, the first course was taught in July by Dr. Mary K. Nafziger. A course in audio-visual education was taught by Prof. J. F. Swartzendruber during the fall trimester.

The program, the first of its kind at GC, has been labeled "a successful beginning" by Dr. S. L. Yoder, acting chairman of the division of teacher education.

Alumni Clubs Meet In Ohio and Florida

Fifty-two alumni and friends in Ohio's Wayne, Summit, and Medina counties met at the Kidron church fellowship center for dessert and discussion on Nov. 14.

Planned by Don Sommer '52 and James Miller '56, the alumni club program included Ed Herr '54, of the admissions office, who spoke on the Study-Service Trimester ("SST") and showed "Making Darkness

Grads to Board

Landes '68

Zehr '62

Henry D. Landes '68 and the Rev. Albert Zehr '62 have been appointed to GC's Board of Overseers by the Mennonite Board of Education. Landes directs the Letcher County (Ky.) Family Services and leads the MCC VS unit there. Zehr is pastor of Steinman church, of Baden, Ont., and dean at Rockway Mennonite School. They fill the unexpired terms of Nelson E. Kauffman and Richard Yordy, elected to the Goshen Biblical Seminary board last summer.

ROGER SPRINGER, 6-2 forward, led the Maple Leafs by scoring 44 points in their last contest before year-end holidays. Final: GC 92, Spring Arbor 88.

(Left) BOB ZUERCHER, GC's 5-10 speedster guard, scored a game-high 30 points on 14 fielders and two free throws when the Maple Leafs contested Tabor College in the Mennonite Classic Nov. 28. The following evening GC defeated Bethel College for the championship.

Mid-Central Conference Admits Maple Leafs

The Mid-Central Conference has voted unanimously to admit Goshen College to membership. Organized for several years, the conference conducts intra-league play in soccer, tennis, basketball, track, baseball, and golf. The league schools — Indiana Institute of Technology, and Concordia Senior, St. Francis, Grace, Huntington, and Tri-State colleges — are within reasonable driving distance and have comparable enrollments. The Maple Leafs will begin conference events September, 1970.

Homecoming '69 Features Seminars, Women's Hockey, and Soccer

(Upper left) Among the returning alumni of the nursing division was Mrs. J. James (Janice Kauffman '66, R.N.) Brenneman Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, who chatted with Prof. Anna Mae Charles, of GC, during the coffee hour of the nursing seminar. Mrs. Brenneman is assisting in teaching at Ohio State University. (Lower left) Miss June Gingerich (JV team), freshman, Goshen, Ind., aims for a field hockey shot that Miss Carol Byler (varsity), junior, Hamburg, Pa., hopes to block. No. 14 is Miss Sue Rohrer (JV), junior, Lancaster, Pa. The field hockey varsity played the junior varsity and defeated them 3-0 when the scheduled Hope College team failed to appear at the appointed hour on Homecoming Day. (Lower right) Dwain Hartzler, junior, Clarence, N.Y., is followed by Dan Shenk, sophomore, Goshen, Ind., who scored the winning goal in the Maple Leafs-Spring Arbor Cougars soccer contest that ended in a 1-0 decision. It is interesting to note that in the NAIA tournament in late fall, Spring Arbor placed fourth.

The 1969 Leafs posted a classy 8-0-3 record, the second unbeaten mark posted in GC's 12-year soccer history. Coach John Ingold's force attained that record in sparkling fashion by allowing opponents only nine goals in 11 matches. Ingold says the 1969 team had fine depth and an excellent spirit.

Next fall the Leafs will miss seniors Gene Schlabach, Wolcottville, Ind., and Wib Zook, Belleville, Pa., co-captains and a pair of standouts at fullback and halfback. But Ingold hopes to have the other nine of last fall's 11 starters back. Other seniors are Tom Brenneman, Elida, Ohio, and Dick Yoder, Kalona, Iowa, a pair of reserve halfbacks, and Jim Yoder, Fort Wayne, Ind., a reserve forward.

Many Members of '20 in Retirement

Mrs. Norman G. (Ella F. Shoup) Bauman Sr., of Leetonia, Ohio, who had been ill for a long period of time, died Dec. 24, 1969. The Baumans — he was class of 1919 — celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary this past June 12, and enjoyed hearing from many of their college friends. Through the years Ella had been active in church work; she helped start the present mission work in Youngstown, Ohio. Two of their three children were graduated from GC.

Mrs. Noah (Iva Yoder) Burkhard, of Shipshewana, Ind., has retired from a career of schoolteaching, both in the grades and in high school, in Indiana and in Nebraska. She took some added study at the University of Nebraska. She has been very active in Methodist Church work, taught Sunday school, sung in the choir, and served as an officer of the Women's Society of Christian Service. She now does substitute Sunday-school teaching, is active in Book Guild and Mental Health work, and does some sewing. Iva has three sons.

Bernice Jones, of Goshen, Ind., took additional study at the U. of Chicago and State U. of Iowa, the latter graduating her with the MA degree in business education. For 18 years she taught school in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Arizona, and for five years she worked in business offices. At Winona Lake, Ind., where she lived for 12 years, she was hostess to summer conference guests. At Goshen's Eight Street Mennonite Church she continues to be active in church work.

Emanuel A. Meyer, of Ardsley-on-Hudson, N.Y., is a food consultant and has been an executive of several companies, including California Canners & Growers, Richmond-Chase Co., War Food Administration and The C.H. Musselman Co. He is a member of White Plains Community Church and serves on the finance committee. Mrs. Meyer is the former Josephine Lehman '21. They have three children.

H. Clay Miller, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., took some postgraduate work at Ohio State University in 1922 and was a high school teacher of science and German for 42 years at Walnut Creek and Canton, Ohio. He retired in 1959 and is now residing with a daughter. He worked as an apartment house caretaker for several years, but is now recovering from an extended illness. Clay is a deacon of Bethany Presbyterian Church and sings in the choir when he is able. He has three children.

Mrs. Clayton (Ruby Beery) Murray, of Bluffton, Ohio, retired from teaching last summer, but in October she started teaching reading in a first grade in Bluffton each morning. She has one married son.

An Oklahoma Community Has Benefited from GC Alumna

Mrs. Jesse B. (Esther Reed) Riffe, of Texhoma, Okla., and her husband, a retired grain dealer, have been active in supporting their community. In 1956 the Riffes built and then donated a public library to the town and in 1967 a youth and community center. They have also given a golf course and football grounds and have aided in the building of an airstrip. The Riffes have set up a student loan fund at Panhandle State College, Goodwell, Okla., where Esther studied piano and organ. Last year they gave the college a new Steinway grand piano. They are members of First Christian Church where Esther served as organist for 12 years.

Mrs. Forrest (Nancy Bontrager) Robinson, of New Paris, Ind., has been a homemaker, though she did some office work in earlier years. The Robinsons are members of New Paris Missionary Church. They have three children.

Dr. Harry F. Weber, of Washington, D.C., is a management analyst in the comptroller's office of the Department of Defense, a Dale Carnegie course instructor, and a well known lecturer in several specialties. After GC graduation he received the MA from Bluffton College, the BD from Witmarsum Seminary, the PhD from Hartford, and the LLB and LLM from Hamilton College of Law. He is also the vice-president of the National Aerospace Educational Memorial Center, a memorial for the oldest airport in the world, at College Park, Md. The Webers have one son.

Joseph A. Yoder, of West Liberty, Ohio, is retired after a life of working as an elementary school principal and on the staff of a Bible school. He is, however, conducting weekly services at the county jail in Urbana, Ohio. Joseph took added college work at Bluffton College, Ohio Northern, and at Hesston College.

Class of '30: Active and Adventurous

Mrs. Herman (Joanna Suderman) Andres, of Newton, Kan., has retired from teaching and is doing secretarial work. She does some teaching at First Mennonite Church, Newton, and is active in community voluntary service to hospitals and retirement centers. Mr. Andres is president of Schowalter Foundation, Inc. They have two married children.

Arthur Blough, of Johnstown, Pa., is a salesman for the local Ford agency now that he has retired from junior high school teaching. He is active in the work of St. Paul's United Church of Christ which he has served as choir director for the past 32 years, chairman of the nominating committee, and on committees of the church's conference. Arthur has also been president of the Community Concert Association. After GC he took some summer work at the University of Pittsburgh. His wife, Julia, is an elementary school librarian.

Joseph R. Buzzard, of Scottdale, Pa., spends much time in community service along with his position as treasurer of Mennonite Publishing House, where he has worked since 1954. In earlier years he taught school in Illinois, and from 1930 until 1953 he was an accountant at Elkhart, Ind., Packing Co., followed by one year as treasurer of E.Z. Gas Co., Goshen, Ind. Joseph is now vice president of Scottdale YMCA, on the boards of Frick Community Hospital, Mt. Pleasant, and Tri-Gas Service Corporation, treasurer of Laurelville Mennonite Church Center, a member of the stewardship committee of the Allegheny Conference, secretary-treasurer of Scottdale Development Company. He has also been active in Mennonite General Conference, Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, and other church work. He has studied higher accountancy at LaSalle Extension University. Joseph's wife, Nellie, is a proofreader at Mennonite Publishing House. They have two children.

Earl Byler died unexpectedly during a heart attack suffered on May 2, 1969, at Research Center, Wooster, Ohio.

College Professor's Wife Is Active Presbyterian

Mrs. Ezra J. (Lois Lapp) Camp, of St. Paul, Minn., is a homemaker and active church worker, residing on Lake Johanna, eight miles north of Macalester College, where her husband is a professor. Lois works with the women's organizations of the Macalester Presbyterian Church, is in a study club, and is active in college groups. She and her husband have three children.

Harvey A. Driver, of Fort Wayne, Ind., has had a varied working life, starting with schoolteaching in Colorado. He was poultry specialist for Sunnycrest Farms, Wauseon, Ohio, executive secretary of Congo Inland Mission, assistant to the president of Taylor University and executive secretary of the Evangelical Mennonite Conference. He took extra college work in education at the University of Colorado and studied poultry marketing and research at Ohio State. Harvey is now active in Brookside, E.M.C. congregation, Young America Crusades, Fort Wayne Rescue Mission, Evangelical Ministers Association, Christian Business Men's Committee, Fort Wayne Bible College campus development and YMCA. His wife, the former Edith Charbonnier Miller, is an office coordinator. They have three children.

Allen B. Ebersole, of Leetonia, Ohio, is a social worker with the Columbiana County, Ohio, welfare department, and bishop of the Leetonia Mennonite Church. He has taught school in Colorado and Newfoundland and has pastored churches in Fort Wayne, Ind., Canton and Leetonia, Ohio, and was administrator of Adriel School, West Liberty, Ohio. After GC Allen did added study for a teacher's license in Colorado, took Bible at GC and clinical pastoral training at South Baptist Hospital, and participated in social work seminars. He is a member of the Kiwanis Club (he will be the 1970 president) and a PTO member. He worked with a Salem area hospital drive this past summer. Mrs. Ebersole, the former Nellie May Miller '31, is a homemaker and teacher. The Ebersoles have two children, including Marylin (Ebersole) Boyer '58.

Murl O. Eldridge, Goshen, Ind., is part owner of Brown and Brown Contractors, a firm that has built among other things, Greencroft Central Manor, the Goshen City Hall, Methodist Church addition, Parkside School addition, Plymouth United Church of Christ addition and Riverdale School. The Eldridges belong to the Baptist

Camille Victims Aided

Since September, five groups of GC students, faculty and staff have gone to Gulfport, Miss., to help restore a community ravaged by Hurricane Camille.

As the Bulletin went to press, the fifth group, led by Prof. Nicholas Lindsay, of the English department, Clarence Burkholder, of the physical plant department, and Loren Stauffer, of the staff personnel office, was on location. Fifteen students were in the group.

Equipped with hammers, hand saws, try squares, and carpenter's rules, crews shingled and did roofing, mounted windows, installed awnings, and removed nails from lumber to salvage it for rebuilding. Early crews scrubbed and did general clean-up work.

The first group of two carloads of students led by Prof. Vernon Schertz, of the English department, was in Mississippi the first week of September. Its findings and experience led to the formation of groups later in the trimester.

Prof. Schertz also led the second group, which comprised 13 students and was in Mississippi Nov. 10-14.

Among the 11 in the third group, directed during Thanksgiving week by Prof. Merritt Gardner, of the mathematics department, were (in picture, left to right) Don Jantzi, Archbold, Ohio, Dan Hostetler, Sarasota, Fla., and Miss Ruth Ann Clemmer, Harleysville, Pa., who helped shingle a small house.

In the fourth group, which left immediately after their final exams, Dec. 16 and 17, and returned on Christmas Eve, were Prof. William F. Miller, of the natural sciences division, Jim Martin and Bob Hochstedler, seniors, and Emil Broni, a GC junior, all supervisors, plus 19 students.

Gifts totaling $700 from Sunday-school classes, parents, students, faculty, staff, Indiana churches of various denominations, and Gulfport residents paid for the gasoline. In addition, a couple Goshen businessmen donated the use of their vans and cars.

Students Set New Record For Giving Blood

Goshen College students set a new record for giving blood last October 30.

The total amount collected was 230 pints. A contest sponsored by campus organizations for highest percentage of participation by housing unit was won by the men on the north half of Yoder Hall's third floor.

All the blood donated will be used at area hospitals.

Church and have five children and ten grandchildren.

Mary Irene Hess, of Hesston, Kan., has just retired as librarian at Hesston College, where she has lived for the past three years. Preceding this position she taught medical librarianship at San Francisco University, and has had professional articles published in Hospital Progress. Mary received her master's degree in literature at Greeley, Colo., in 1943.

Dr. Ralph M. Holdeman, of New York City, is currently serving as director for evangelism on the staff of the National Council of Churches. He is an ordained minister in the United Methodist Church, and in earlier years was pastor of Bethel Church in Elkhart, Ind. He has done a great deal of art work and now has an exhibit of sculpture on display at Interchurch Center in New York City.

Mrs. LeRoy (Ardis Jane Ebersole) Hostetler, of Bellefontaine, Ohio, is working as assistant supervisor of housekeeping at a local hospital while her husband, LeRoy '29, continues as a carpenter. Their daughter, Mrs. Mervin (Esther Hostetler) Zook of Hazelwood, Mo., attended GC for two years. The Hostetlers lived in the country until five years ago and had a busy life with gardening and church work. Ardis has taught Sunday school, been Sunday-school librarian, taught Bible school and served in other church groups.

Wilbur Hostetler, of Elkhart, Ind., has taught in public schools in Indiana and in a United States Indian school and was a missionary in India for 14 years. He currently works with Bible correspondence courses and prison evangelism, at the Mennonite Board of Missions. He studied for over two years at Goshen Seminary. The Hostetlers, she was Velma Lapp '32, have three children and are members of the College Mennonite Church, where Wilbur is on the Commission for Witness and Service.

Retired Fruit Company Worker Was in Voluntary Service

J. Forrest Kanagy, of Biglerville, Pa., was employed by Musselman Fruit Products Division, Pet Inc., since 1930 until June 1, 1968, when he retired. Forrest was purchasing agent for the company from 1941 on. Since his retirement he has been on several Voluntary Service assignments. He and his wife, Saba, are members of Bethel Mennonite Church, Gettysburg, Pa., and Forrest has been a member and secretary of the Mennonite Board of Education. The Kanagys have three children.

Mrs. Ora M. (Alta Brenneman) Keiser, of Kalona, Iowa, earned 50 hours of extra college credit in summer school and workshops at State University of Iowa, since leaving GC. She has been a teacher of the first grade at Mid-Prairie School in Kalona and before that taught in a rural school. The Keisers, he is a teacher and a member of the class of 1931, have a son, John Keiser '61, who with his family is serving under MCC in Algeria. Alta's hobbies are traveling, gardening and knitting. The Keisers attend Kalona Mennonite Church.

Mrs. Irvin (Bessie Mae Birky) Kennell, of Eureka, Ill., has been director of court services for Woodford County for the last 15 years, and works with delinquent and dependent children in the county Youth and Family Counseling Service. Mr. Kennel is a real estate broker and owns and operates Christain Book Store. From 1951 to 1953, the Kennells were in Voluntary Service in Jordan. Their daughter, Kay, is an art teacher and they have a grandson who is a college freshman. Their son-in-law, Duane Sears, is head of the counseling department in Eureka.

Lester L. Litwiller, of Wooster, Ohio, was employed by Caterpillar Tractor Co., as a designer, supervisor and staff engineer in Morton, Ill. 17 years. He was the first person to complete the company's engineering apprentice course, a two-year study. Since 1945 he has been a managing partner with J.S. Yoder & Son, Wooster. Lester and his wife, Ruth V. Yoder '29, have three children and attend Oak Grove Mennonite Church, Smithville, Ohio.

Former Teacher Has Worked in Bookstore And Raised Two Daughters

Mrs. Menno E. (Hazel Stauffer) Miller, Millersville, Pa., taught school for four years after leaving GC. Her husband, Menno '33, was also a teacher and then became manager of Weaver Bookstore (now Provident) in Lancaster, Pa. After the death of their daughter, at age two, the Millers took two girls into their home and raised them as daughters. Hazel spent a number of years working at the bookstore part time after Menno became ill with multiple sclerosis. After 20 years of working it was necessary for him to retire, and he is now confined to a wheelchair, though his condition has not become worse in the past ten years. The Millers enjoy rides in their car and attending church at Millersville Mennonite.

Mrs. Howard Y. (Ruth Miller) Musselman, of Hagerstown, Md., was married on her graduation night in the GC Chapel and has resided most of the time since, in Orrtanna, Pa. She and her husband, Howard '29, are now in Hagerstown where he is a hospital administrator. They lived briefly in LaJunta, Colo., and in McAllen, Texas. The Musselmans have three married daughters and eight grandchildren. Ruth pioneered a project for the Women's Society of Fairfield Mennonite Church, an annual International Gift Festival, offering MCC handiwork produced by craftsmen and self-help workers throughout the world. The festival is now used as a project by other churches working through MCC. Ruth is interested in garden and homemaking club work.

Harvey M. Postma, of Nappanee, Ind., retired from teaching business subjects at Nappanee High School in 1965, where he had taught since 1931. During these years he took graduate work at Manchester College and Indiana University, and with his wife's help, operated a motel in Nappanee for 15 years. Harvey has been an elder of the Presbyterian Church for many years and also handles the printing of the weekly church bulletin and the church newsletter. The Postmas have two children.

Retired Teacher and Husband Have Adopted Korean Child

Mrs. Chris S. (Adella Hostetler) Roth, of Nampa, Idaho, and her husband, adopted a little Korean girl, Susan, just one year ago. Susan will be 11 years old on Christmas Day. The Roths are both retired, Adelia from teaching, and Chris from the real estate business. They attend the Church of the Open Door. Before her retirement Adelia taught school at Nampa Junior and Senior High; for the last five years of her career she taught senior English. She has earned extra college credits from Colorado State Teachers College, Greeley, the University of Idaho, Moscow, and Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa.

John Edward Roupp, of Denver, Colo., is semi-retired, but keeps busy with the ownership of 175 apartments in Denver and Boulder, Colo. He and his wife attend Calvary Temple Church in Denver, and Bay Shore Mennonite Church, Sarasota, Fla., where they spend the winters. The Roupps have six children.

Lela Schertz, of Boulder, Colo., studied at Purdue University after her GC days and then worked as a dietitian for 24 years in Chicago. She is a member of the Wesleyan Service Guild and is enjoying her retirement in Colorado.

Mrs. Tilman (Luella M. Schertz) Smith, of Goshen, Ind., has attended the College Mennonite Church since she and her husband, Tilman '28, moved to Goshen last August. In earlier years she taught in the public schools in Illinois, but has been a homemaker and mother for their five children, who are all GC graduates. Tilman is now a member of the GC faculty.

Silas J. Smucker, of Rensselaer, Ind., took graduate work at Purdue University after GC, winning his MS degree in 1932. He has been employed by the U.S. government for 32 years, starting in 1934 with the Department of Agriculture working in New Jersey and Indiana. From 1960 to 1962 the Smuckers served with MCC in Haiti and then Silas worked for the State Department until 1968. He is now inventory control manager for Northway Furniture Co. Mrs. Smucker is the former Esther Meck '32, and they have two children, both graduates of GC. Silas teaches a Sunday school class and is director of Sunday evening services at their church.

Mission Worker Has Served in Argentina and Texas Areas

Mrs. Elvin V. (Mary A. Fretz) Snyder, of Harrisonburg, Va., served with her husband in 1928-47, in a mission pastorate at Carlos Casares Mission in Argentina, where they were in charge of an orphanage and kindergarten school. The Snyders have also served in Texas working with a kindergarten and an emerging congregation. They have five children, all who have attended GC.

Alma Sommer, of Kidron, Ohio, is charge nurse at Wooster Community Hospital.

Mrs. David C. (Katie Smucker) Steiner, of North Lima, Ohio, went back to schoolteaching after her children were grown, but now both she and her husband are retired. They do quite a bit of traveling to visit their children away from home, and they are also active in their local church congregation. Another interest is helping at the Youngstown Mennonite Church Referral Center. Three of their six children attended GC.

Edwin I. Weaver, of Accra, Ghana, is employed under the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities in leadership training while studying the problems of churches in West Africa. Edwin received the STB from the Theological Seminary in New York, and did additional graduate work at Princeton Seminary in 1952-53, during a furlough from India. He and his wife, Elizabeth (Lehman '32), have three children, Carolyn, Jerold and Elizabeth, and nine grandchildren.

Mrs. Jonathan G. (Fryne Anne Miller) Yoder, of Goshen, Ind., is now doing volunteer work at Oaklawn Psychiatric Center and in church WMSA. She is a homemaker, but taught home ec at GC after graduation and has also taught at Bethany High School. The Yoders, Jonathan '27 is a physician, were missionaries in India from 1937 to 1953, in Nepal from 1960 to 1963 and in India again in 1967-68. During these years Fryne has done extra study at Iowa University and has studied the Hindi language in language school. The Yoders have three children, one a GC student now.

Yoder Brothers, Inc., Employee Has Been Church Trustee

Martha V. Yoder, of Barberton, Ohio, is employe insurance administrator for Yoder Brothers, Inc., and formerly held the positions of bookkeeper and office manager. She is a member of First United Presbyterian Church, Barberton, where she was a trustee. Martha has taken a few night courses for enjoyment only, since GC days.

Mrs. Newton G. (Mary E. Yoder) Yoder, of West Liberty, Ohio, received her BS from Ohio Northern after attending GC and is now teaching social studies to 100 sixth graders at Salem Elementary School. She does some substitute Sunday-school teaching, and has five children, three of whom were graduated from GC.

Mrs. S. A. (Ethel L. Oyer) Yoder, of Goshen, Ind., is now a homemaker, but has worked for GC at the switchboard and part-time in the public relations office. She spent last year in Jamaica, 1955-56 in Greece, and 1962-63 in Vietnam and Taiwan. Ethel taught school in Illinois for five years earlier. S.A. Yoder '28, her husband, is a college professor. They have two children, both GC grads, and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Aldine (Velma O. Steiner) Zimmerly, of Orrville, Ohio, is a homemaker with four children.

Members of '35 Note High Lights

Mrs. H. John's Jottings

By John L. Frankenfield, Director of Alumni Relations and Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association

When President Mininger announced that Goshen's budget was hacked and hewn and tugged and tightened until it came into balance, I couldn't help thinking of the building of the Good Library a few years back. Do you know the story?

An elderly "sidewalk superintendent" who seemed to have nothing else to do watched the steelwork rise on each side of the building and one day announced to the superintendent that the horizontal beams wouldn't fit when lowered. The construction superintendent reassured him, and seeing him the day when some of the beams moved slowly into position said, "See, they did fit after all." "Yes," said the old fellow, "but just barely."

And that's how Goshen's budget is balanced. Just barely. Your gift to the 1970 Alumni Fund helps make the balance possible. Make your check as generous as you can.

GOSHEN COLLEGE BULLETIN
Vol. LXIV, No. 1
January, 1970

Have your cake . . . and eat it too.

By giving, you continue to receive.

Let's say you enter into a Charitable Gift Annuity agreement with Goshen College. Most important, your gift will help Goshen College continue to prepare young men and women for lives of usefulness.

But you learn that by giving you receive. First, you are guaranteed an income for the rest of your life. For example, if your annuity is for yourself only, and:

Your age is	Your rate of return is
72	6.0 per cent
75	6.5 per cent
78	7.1 per cent
81	7.7 per cent
84	8.0 per cent

Second, you pay income taxes on only part of that income.

You even receive more than that. If the gift money were in your savings account instead of a Charitable Gift Annuity, you would receive less than the published rate of return on your principle. Why? Because you must pay income tax on bank interest. That's another way your spendable income can increase by entering into a Charitable Gift Annuity Agreement.

Your annuity also gives you generous tax deductions the first year. And that means more real income for you that year.

For more information and a copy of the table of annuity rates, write to Heritage. . . Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana 46526.

Gift Received for Retirees

A gift of a real estate contract designated for the school's faculty retirement fund has been received at Goshen College.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Roupp, of Denver, Colo., have given all their rights to property in Farmington, N. Mex., valued at about $44,000. GC President Paul Mininger said payments including interest received from the contract will help pay the allowances of retired faculty members.

In making the gift, Mr. and Mrs. Roupp said, "We are grateful for what we have received from GC and happy to share in meeting the needs of the faculty members who sacrificed so much to build the fine college that it is today."

In accepting the gift, Dr. Mininger said, "On behalf of the college, I thank Mr. and Mrs. Roupp for their generous gift, which is a significant one toward undergirding financially the college's retirement program.

"Our 12 faculty now receiving retirement allowances have given their lives to the church and Goshen College. They have influenced the lives of thousands of young persons. The gift of the Roupps will help give these former teachers the security and support they deserve during their retirement years."

Mr. Roupp, a 1930 graduate and history major of the college, is a semi-retired builder and land developer. He is a long-time friend of Dr. Mininger.

Mrs. Roupp, the former Gladys Benell, and Mrs. Mininger are also long-time personal friends.

Bequest Received

A bequest of $15,317.59 from the estate of Jeff R. Zook, of West Liberty, Ohio, has just been received. President Mininger said, "This evidence of interest and confidence in the College is very timely, and the College receives the gift gratefully."

April 18-19 Is Set For Commencement

Activities for the 72nd annual commencement have been set for the weekend of April 18 and 19.

Preaching the baccalaureate sermon at 11 a.m. in the Church-Chapel, Sunday, April 19, will be President Paul Mininger.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. John H. Yoder, president-elect of Goshen Biblical Seminary and professor of theology at the Seminary, at 3:30 p.m., April 19, in the Union Auditorium. About 260 seniors will be recognized during the degree-awarding ceremony.

Dedication of the Jacob F. Rupp Memorial Organ, a gift of Mrs. Fannie B. Severson in memory of her father, will be at 8 Saturday evening, April 18, in the Church-Chapel. Recitalist for the service will be Richard Litterst, of the organ faculties at Rockford and Beloit colleges and minister of music and organist at Second Congregational Church, of Rockford, Ill. Also taking part will be the college faculty of music, Chamber Choir, and college orchestra. A reception in honor of Mrs. Severson will be held immediately afterward.

The senior nurses' graduation program is set for Saturday afternoon at 3 in the Church-Chapel with a tea in their honor immediately afterward. A high light of the occasion is the traditional lighting of the nursing lamps and the awarding of their pins.

J. H. Yoder Elected Seminary President

John H. Yoder, professor of theology at Goshen Biblical Seminary, has been elected its president by the Mennonite Board of Education.

Dr. Yoder, 42, who will assume the presidency on July 1, will be the first president to be responsible solely for the Seminary's affairs. Dr. Paul Mininger has served since 1954 as president of Goshen College and Biblical Seminary, which existed as one institution in the past.

The president-elect is considered a leader in Mennonite theological and mission efforts and a spokesman of the Mennonites and of the concept of the Free Church in the wider Christian brotherhood in evangelical and ecumenical circles in this country and abroad. He has written two books and numerous pamphlets, papers, and reviews, and translated two Dutch works. Two books on war and peace and one on Anabaptist origins are currently ready for publishing. In addition, he has had extensive experience in overseas mission, relief, and service efforts and been a participant in two Mennonite World Conferences.

Bishop John E. Lapp, of Lansdale, Pa., a member of the Seminary Board of Overseers, said, "God has men who are prepared for the tasks of the hour. John H. Yoder is such a man for today. In these days when the Mennonite Church is recovering and experiencing the renewal of its heritage, an Anabaptist is needed to interpret this faith. Students preparing for the ministry need the leadership of one who has not only pioneered in the background of our historic faith but also can relate it and its biblical applications to today."

Walter Hochstetler, a Seminary senior and the student representative on the Presidential Selection Committee, is enthusiastic about the choice of John Yoder as the next president.

He said, "The deep questions of the meaning of faithful Christian discipleship today demand the most brilliant, charismatic, pioneering leadership available. J. H. Yoder is eminently qualified to continue and expand his leadership to the church, and particularly in the preparation of future congregational leaders."

Appointed in 1958

John H. Yoder, appointed to the Seminary faculty in 1958, has, in addition to teaching, engaged in various services. He has taught two courses, "History and Theology of the Free Church" and "Christian Attitudes to War, Peace, and Revolution," in the Notre Dame University's department of theology and been consultant to that school's program in conflict resolution. He is consultant to the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities, a member of its overseas missions committee, and chairman of its student services committee. He has been participant and teacher at numerous seminars and meetings, especially on the problem of war and Christian ethics, on four continents.

Because Goshen Biblical Seminary is a partner in Associated Mennonite Biblical Seminaries, John H. Yoder will be one member of a team of administrators. He will serve with Dr. Erland Waltner, president of Mennonite Biblical Seminary, the other partner in the Association, and Dr. Ross T. Bender, the dean shared by both seminaries, in carrying out their common academic program. In addition to presidential duties, John H. Yoder will continue his research and teaching, as will the other two administrators.

The choice of Prof. Yoder came after meetings and consultations by a selection committee, which began its work last September. In the seven-member group were Harvey Bauman and Orrin Smucker, representing the Mennonite Board of Education executive board; Richard Yordy and James Kratz, Seminary Board of Overseers; Millard C. Lind, faculty; Walter Hochstetler, students; and Ronald Kennel, alumni.

The group received counsel from many bodies, including the staffs of both seminaries, Goshen College faculty, executive committees of conferences supporting the seminary, alumni, and the board of trustees of Mennonite Biblical Seminary.

Relations with Churches Emphasized

With its presidential recommendation, the selection committee proposed the appointment of a staff person to "relate to the churches, giving theological leadership in the direction of our clarified vision." This person is to be a man with substantial experience in congregational leadership to work with congregations and conferences in fulfilling their leadership needs and help them face critical issues in life today. He would also help channel the gifts of the faculty to the church.

In a business session in mid-March, and partly in response to John Yoder's recommendation, the Seminary Board of Overseers acted to call such a staff person to complement the leadership of the new president.

Seminary Separate from College

The Goshen Biblical Seminary has been a graduate seminary since 1946. In 1958 it entered into a cooperative relationship with Mennonite Biblical Seminary, in which library facilities were shared and the academic program coordinated to avoid costly duplication.

Last fall, after more than a decade of congenial experience, the Goshen Biblical Seminary moved to the campus of the Associated Mennonite Biblical Seminaries, 3003 Benham Avenue, Elkhart, which is also the campus of Mennonite Biblical Seminary. Goshen Biblical Seminary (earlier known as Goshen College Biblical Seminary) now has its own board of overseers (since last summer), and continues to have its own faculty, registration requirements, degree-granting responsibilities, and financial needs.

Native of Ohio

The president-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Yoder, of Gasche Street, Wooster, Ohio. He is a great-grandson of C. Z. Yoder, of Wooster, Ohio, a pioneer leader in the work of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities. (C. Z. Yoder Hall, built on the Goshen campus in 1960, was named in his honor.)

John H. Yoder is a 1947 graduate of Goshen College. He studied theology at the University of Basel from 1954 to 1957 and received its doctor of theology degree.

By special arrangement John H. Yoder has accepted an assignment under the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities and the Evangelical Mennonite Theological Seminary, of Montevideo, Uruguay, to teach at the interdenominational Institute of Higher Theological Studies of Buenos Aires for the academic year 1970-71.

Richard Yordy, chairman of the Seminary board, said, "It is workable for John Yoder to carry out this mission without calling an acting president. Indeed, this is part of the flexibility of an administrative team, which can provide for continuity of leadership while a member may have a special assignment in the church or be on leave."

In South America, John Yoder will exemplify the Seminary's role as servant to the church to help prepare persons and develop their skills in communicating theology to all parts of the world in the current day.

Mrs. Yoder is the former Anne-Marie Guth, of France. The Yoders have six children.

Gunden to Leave Manager's Post

Ralph J. Gunden, business manager of Goshen College since 1957 and controller from 1949 to 1957, has resigned to accept the post of trust officer at First National Bank of Goshen.

The resignation, effective July 1, 1970, was submitted to Dr. Paul Mininger, president of the college, "after much thought and consideration," Mr. Gunden said. When he joined the administrative staff, the college's budget was $500,000 a year; the 1970 budget is more than six times that figure.

In explanation he said, "I have greatly enjoyed my work here and believe in the goals of Goshen College. . . I felt I should not try to stay in my present position many more years. . . I was and am determined not to overstay my usefulness." Over the past four years he had discussed several times with Dr. Mininger what the best interests of the college should be as well as his own plans for the future.

Paying tribute to Mr. Gunden, Dr. Mininger said, "During these years he has brought to his office an unusual combination of a brilliant mind, an understanding of the nature of the educational enterprise, a clear perception of the financial implications of all aspects of the Goshen College program, and a dedication to GC as a college of the Mennonite Church. In our years of working together I have found him to be a competent administrator, a stimulating colleague, a wise counsellor and a faithful friend."

J. B. Shenk, director of admissions, acting director of college relations, former assistant to the president, and fellow administrator of Mr. Gunden's, said, "It could be observed from the sessions of the Board of Overseers and its finance and development committee that Ralph had their complete confidence, based upon a record of realistic planning and budgeting."

Dean Carl Kreider, an administrative council member with Gunden, said, "Ralph Gunden will be remembered as a business manager who regarded his work as a vital part of the educational program. The budget of Goshen College has always been a tight one but Gunden was more concerned that the limited resources of Goshen be spent to create an excellent academic program than that the funds be conserved."

J. Robert Kreider, director of college relations now on sabbatical leave, and another of Gunden's colleagues, said, "Ralph repeatedly demonstrated the ability to make the limited financial resources available to Goshen College achieve maximum results in its program of Christian higher education — a matter of great importance to all our constituents. We will remember his years of faithful service with deep appreciation."

Anticipating "a new significant challenge," Mr. Gunden said, "I look forward to the new responsibilities and the opportunity to perform a real service to the people of the Goshen community."

Gunden, 46 and a 1950 GC graduate, is married and the father of two daughters and a son. He has been active in national and state college business officer associations, Rotary, the College Mennonite Church, and as a member of the Goshen General Hospital board.

Music Conference Set for May 1-3

The GC department of music will sponsor a special church music conference, May 1-3, on campus. Director of the conference will be Miss Mary Oyer, professor of music.

The conference will include a series of four addresses on use of organ, "Music of the Mennonite Hymnal," and "Contemporary Trends in Church Music"; a recital on the organ of new preludes for tunes in the hymnal, and a recital of preludes from a variety of historical periods.

More information is available from Miss Oyer, Goshen College, Goshen, Ind. 46526.

SST Diary: It's all in a day's s

(Above) Siquirres is literally at the end of the road in the coastal plain jungle near the Caribbean in Costa Rica. The town looks and is hot and dead. It is 80 degrees and the humidity registers close to 100. Remarkably large mosquitoes flap about. There is a distinct feeling of depression about the town. But Miss Anita Hartzler, a GC student, is there teaching English and music. Red-faced and without make-up, her legs covered with mosquito bites, she is vigorous and eager to talk. "You'd better believe SST is worth all this work and sweat," she says. (Right) Larry Stuckey was one of two GC fellows who lived in a large bare room on the second floor of an otherwise deserted house on an agricultural station near Managua, Nicaragua. The boys worked at various farm tasks, including mowing the lawn with a machete. (Below) In Costa Rica's sugar cane country is Ciudad Quesada, a prosperous town with well-kept square and smothered in the clouds of the Cordillera Central. Dave Massanari was one of four GC students there who helped at the hospital, the kindergarten, or cleaning up the school playground. An hour's drive north to the edge of the jungle, another GC student taught physical education and helped at an agriculture experiment station.

Dr. Edgar Chaveri, director of the hospital, finding out that Ronnie had experience as an orderly and operating room technician during service, required him to be on hand to assist in the delivery of three babies, and in surgery, including hernia repairs, Caesarean section, gastrectomy, appendectomies, tonsillectomies, and minor operations. In the emergency room, he treated boils, cuts and bruises, and prescribed certain medicines under Dr. Chaveri's supervision.

(Left) Students live in homes of nationals, have a "father," "mother," "sisters," and "brothers." Rita Conrad, GC student watching her "father" cut sugar cane, helped save a child's life last summer at the Grecia (Costa Rica) Hospital. The hospital had ordered an oxygen tent, but when it arrived, no one could read English instructions. And, to make matters worse, a small boy with breathing difficulties required the use of such an apparatus. She put the tent together and began its operation in time to help relieve the child's problem. (Below) Donna Yoder was one of three GC students who helped teach Nicaraguans 25-years-old and older to read and write their own language in an Alfalit program at Esteli, in the hinterlands of that country. Widely scattered throughout the countries and often hard to get to, students on service assignments have many chances to respond to the demands of the new culture. Their education is allowed to become a process of self-realization and self-fulfillment as well as the accumulation of facts, and it helps to drive home the connection between formal education and the concept of serving, working and playing with, other people. SST (Study-Service Trimester) is a chance to understand oneself better by first understanding another country, culture, and its values.

(Left) Ralph Fireoved, GC-er in Haiti last summer, receives a haircut from his "mother," Mrs. Roger Martineau. One student remarked, "I didn't know what to expect during SST. Before I left home, I was scared to death. If it would have been easy, I would have backed out. But it's all been invaluable. My family accepted me as a "daughter." I took part in all the family affairs. I had a real taste of this culture which I couldn't have gotten any other way. . . As a result of the past 14 weeks, my feelings about purpose in life, religion and the church have changed drastically. . . My personal growth has been immeasurable." (Below) Natalie Ostendorf worked in a small medical and day-care clinic in Tipitapa, a Nicaraguan town of about eight blocks square. She said, "We had 14 kids in the feeding program. . . And the doctor came in every morning. A little girl was brought in one morning. She was seven years old and weighed 24 pounds. I couldn't take that for too long. Some of the kids seemed happy playing around the clinic, but there was nothing for them. When you've been there, you understand much better what reality is."

Students Give Various Voluntary Services

Students and Faculty Help in Area Devastated by Camille

TOUR EUROPE AND SEE PASSION PLAY

Western Europe and the Passion Play at Oberammergau can be yours this summer, with Dr. John S. Oyer, GC professor of history, as your tour leader.

Well-versed in Europe's lore, Prof. Oyer will personally introduce you to the history, geography, and the arts after you land in Rome (by the way, most commercial tours fly you only to London), and start an unusual trek across the continent visiting the catacombs, museums where the art of Rembrandt is hung, a few outstanding cathedrals and prominent castles, a Holland ceramics works, Menno Simons country, Berlin, the Oberammergau Passion Play (performed only every tenth year), and many other stops neglected by the ordinary tour.

Your dates: July 30-August 20. Your departure: New York City. Your cost: $825 U.S. dollars. Your early response is requested.

Write: TOURS, c/o Goshen College Bulletin, Goshen, Indiana 46526.

You can have your cake . . . and eat it too.

By giving, you can continue to receive.

Let's say you enter into a Charitable Gift Annuity agreement with Goshen College. Most important, your gift will help Goshen College continue to prepare young men and women for lives of usefulness.

But you learn that by giving you receive. First, you are guaranteed an income for the rest of your life. For example, if your annuity is for yourself only, and:

Your age is	Your rate of return is
72	6.0 per cent
75	6.5 per cent
78	7.1 per cent
81	7.7 per cent
84	8.0 per cent

Second, you pay income taxes on only part of that income.

You even receive more than that. If the gift money were in your savings account instead of a Charitable Gift Annuity, you would receive less than the published rate of return on your principle. Why? Because you must pay income tax on bank interest. That's another way your spendable income can increase by entering into a Charitable Gift Annuity Agreement.

Your annuity also gives you generous tax deductions the first year. And that means more real income for you that year.

For more information and a copy of the table of annuity rates, write to Heritage . . . Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana 46526.

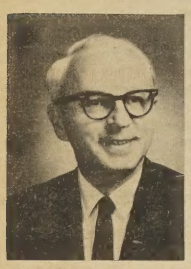
Alumni College Sessions Are Feature of Alumni Day



Atlee Beechy '35

C. Franklin Bishop '40

Prof. Atlee Beechy '35 and Prof. C. Franklin Bishop '40 will each chair a session of Alumni College, specially planned for Alumni Day, June 20.

"Higher Education and the '70's: The Nation, the Students, and Goshen College" will be Dr. Beechy's assignment. Joining GC's acting dean of students, director of the Office of Experimentation in Christian Higher Education, and professor of education, on the panel will be Dr. Tom Diener '55, director of the Institute of Higher Education, University of Georgia, and Dean Schertz '71, president of Goshen College Community Government. The session will begin at 10 a.m.

Dr. Bishop, professor of biology, will chair "Can We Be Good Managers of Our Environment?" in the 11 a.m. session. On his panel will be Alvin J. Smucker '65 graduate student at Michigan State University, and Dr. Lester J. Zimmerman '47, GC professor of mathematics.

Both sessions are set for Assembly Hall on the second floor of the Administration Building.

Designed to keep alumni up to date on important social issues, this year's Alumni College sessions focus on higher education and control of environment. The sessions, along with the rest of the events of Alumni Day, were planned by the alumni relations committee of the Alumni Association — Ed Yoder '58, chairman; Mrs. Charles (Betty) Lorenz '68, Mrs. J.B. (Betty Frey) Senk '46, Howard Snider '56, and John L. Frankenfield '68, ex officio.

How much longer is the honeymoon between higher education and the public going to last? What is happening to the concepts of responsibility and social usefulness for the now generation?

Who is the biggest enemy of pollution on earth? Who has the ecological wisdom for the average citizen so that he can be rational at voting time?

Such questions are among the many that may be raised during the Alumni College sessions.

All alumni are welcome to the sessions. Special effort was made to obtain a couple speakers on each panel from the classes holding reunions this year, and alumni of those classes will want to attend to hear what their colleagues are thinking and saying.

Other activities of Alumni Day are class reunions and the Annual Alumni Banquet, this year honoring President and Mrs. Paul Mininger. The full schedule for the day appears below.

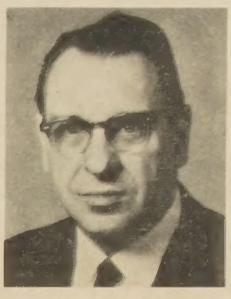
LATE NEWS FLASH



Burkholder Elected Tenth President

The Mennonite Board of Education has elected Dr. J. Lawrence Burkholder '39, professor at Harvard and a former GC faculty member, as Goshen College's tenth president.

The announcement by Dr. Paul M. Lederach, president of the Board, was made as the Newsletter went to press.

Dr. Burkholder will take office on July 1, 1971. In the interim year, Dr. Carl Kreider '36, dean, will be acting president, also the result of the Mennonite Board of Education election.

The Goshen College Board of Overseers has appointed Dr. Henry D. Weaver Jr., professor of chemistry and chairman of the division of international studies, as acting dean for the 1970-71 year.

The resignation of Dr. Paul Mininger '34, who has been president of Goshen College since 1954, is effective June 30.

A special May Goshen College Bulletin will carry more details on these recent developments and on the high lights of the 72nd annual commencement weekend.

Mrs. Clayton (Gladys Graber) Beyler, Hesston, Kan., took a semester of study at GC Biblical Seminary, taught school for a year, was married and has been a full-time homemaker ever since. She and her husband, Clayton '43, have six children, the eldest, a spring graduate of GC, and the youngest in kindergarten. Gladys has served her church in various ways including Sunday-school teaching, and has worked on cancer drives and school committees. Clayton is a minister and Bible teacher at Hesston College.

Baptist Minister of Music Has Worked in Several Churches

The Rev. David O. Byler, Hickory, N.C., is associate pastor and minister of music at First Baptist Church in Hickory working with 10 choirs and 380 persons. He also assists the pastor in visitation work among the 1500 church members. David has had the same position with churches in Chattanooga, Tenn., Kingsport, Tenn., and Louisville, Ky. He received his BS in music from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary's School of Music in 1950, and has had training in pastoral counseling at Winston-Salem Baptist Hospital. Community choral groups, Kiwanis Club chaplaincy, volunteer chaplain work in hospitals, the Baptist Pastor's Conference, all have benefited from David's work. His wife, Darlene (Berkey), is a kindergarten teacher. They have four children.

Robert O. Byler, Ventnor, N.J., spent 20 years as a missionary in Argentina after taking a special mission course at Moody Bible Institute in Chicago. He is now a social worker in Atlantic City, N.J., dealing with Spanish-speaking people of the area. Mrs. Byler, the former Jane King, is a director of recreation at Atlantic City Children's Hospital. The Bylers have five children: Susan, a Northwestern University grad; David, a sophomore at Atlantic Community College; Steven, a freshman at Nyack Missionary College; Betsy, an eighth grader, and Becky, a sixth grader.

Mrs. Jonas (Mary O. Byler) Classen, Springfield, Ohio, worked in a children's home in France, under MCC, for ten years after leaving GC. Since then she has been teaching French courses in elementary and junior high schools, but this year is only teaching part-time courses for eighth and ninth graders. Mary took French classes at Wittenberg University in Springfield to get a special certificate for teaching French in grades one through 12. She was superintendent of a community Bible school for several years and has been active in P.T.A. groups and with a new church fellowship. Mr. Classen is a tool maker. They have three children, aged 16, 15, and 12.

Part-Time Library Employee Is Former Arkansas Teacher

Mrs. Paul (Dorothy Horst) Diener, Hesston, Kan., taught school at Bethel Springs School, Culp, Ark., for six years after college graduation, and now is a homemaker and part-time employee at Mary Miller Library at Hesston College. She is a Sunday-school teacher and choir member at Whitestone Mennonite Church. Dorothy's husband, Paul '50, is a publication technician at Hesston Corp. They have three children.

Dr. D. Rohrer Eshleman, Salunga, Pa., was graduated from Eastern Mennonite College with a ThB degree and from Hahnemann Medical College with an MD degree. He is an ordained minister of the Mennonite Church specializing in family counseling. The Eshlemans went to Ethiopia, Africa, after Dr. Eshleman received his M.D. degree, and he was director of an 80-bed hospital there for 18 years. He is now an emergency room doctor at St. Joseph's Hospital, Lancaster, Pa., doing family counseling as a private service specialty. Last year he took a family counseling course at the University of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Eshleman is the former Mabel Horst, a nurse-homemaker. They have four children.

Mrs. Ben S. (Florence Roth) Gerig, Morton, Ill., took summer work at Ball State University in 1945, 1946 and 1947 while teaching school in Berne, Ind. She then taught in Washington, Ill., and now is teaching home economics at Morton Township High School. Florence is active in the work of First Mennonite Church in Morton and its WMSA, and sings in the choir and in a trio. She also sings in a community choir and is in local home economist groups. The Gerigs have a son, John, a high school senior. Mr. Gerig is comptroller for Sealtest (Central Division).

Hospital Administrator Was Listed in 1968 'Who's Who'

Virginia Gomoll, Johnson, Kan., administrator of Stanton County Hospital, was listed in the 1968 edition of "Who's Who." She has had much training and experience to qualify her for her work. Virginia attended a business school in Chicago, American Physical Education College, Chicago, Mennonite School of Nursing, LaJunta, Colo., and Pueblo Clinic, Colo., plus her years at GC. Her working experience has included office nurse, obstetrical nurse, surgical nurse, supervisor of a TB sanitorium, supervisor of a polio ward, head of a clinical lab, hospital supervisor, and hospital administrator. Virginia is a member of First Mennonite Church in LaJunta, but is attending the Methodist Church in Johnson where she teaches an adult Sunday-school class and has started a weekly prayer group for women.

Mrs. Lowell (Alice Buckwalter) Hershberger, Scottdale, Pa., has been editor of "Story Friends," a Sunday-school weekly for primary children, since 1966. She was acting librarian at Hesston College for one year in the '40's; after graduation from GC she taught high school English in Hesston for six years, then joined the staff of the Mennonite Publishing House, Scottdale, where she was a secretary for two years and acting advertising manager for one. Additional study has been limited to summers, and the courses she has taken have been in art education at State University of Iowa and University of Wisconsin, and in advertising and children's literature. Church and community activities include primary superintendent for about eight years, church chorister for about five, and responsibilities in the local WMSA; she is currently literature secretary for the conference-wide Allegheny WMSA. Husband is Lowell Hershberger '41, chief shipping clerk at MPH. Four children.

F. Eugene Hess, South Bend, Ind., has his BS from Indiana University and his MA in social work, also from I.U. He is a school social worker for the Penn-Harris-Madison School System, Mishawaka, Ind., and does marriage counseling for the Family and Children Center in Mishawaka, and in a private office. The Hess family belongs to Crest Manor Church of the Brethren in South Bend, where Gene is on the Christian education commission. He is also a member of the National Association of Social Workers and the Academy of Certified Social Workers. Mrs. Hess was Ruth Phillips. They have two children.

Laurence M. Horst, Accra, Ghana, West Africa, received his ThB from GC and then went to Hesston College to serve on the faculty and to give pastoral service to Peabody, Kan., church. In 1951, he and Mrs. Horst, the former Marian Messner, moved to Fort Worth, Tex., where Laurence studied at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and earned his MRE degree. The Horsts moved on to Chicago to serve the Mennonite church in Englewood and in Evanston, where Laurence was president of the Peace and World Affairs Center. In 1969 the family, including Ramona, aged 15, went to Africa where Laurence is moderator of the Ghana Mennonite Conference, pastor of the Ghana Mennonite Church and director of Home Bible Studies, all challenging and interesting positions. The term of MBMC service for the Horsts is three years.

LaJunta Nursing Graduate Worked In Medical Doctor's Offices

Mrs. Samuel T. (Martha Grove) Miller, Elkhart, Ind., after graduation from LaJunta, Colo., School of Nursing in 1946, nursed at Elkhart General Hospital for several years and then returned to LaJunta for two years. She worked in the offices of doctors and was married in 1959. Martha is now a homemaker and member of Grace Lutheran Church in Elkhart. Her husband, Dr. Sam '05, is a physician and surgeon. He has one child.

Mrs. Wayne E. (Dorothy Kauffmann) Miller, Dearborn Heights, Mich., taught school for only a year and a half, after GC, but has done substitute teaching for nearly eight years. After her marriage in 1944, Dorothy worked as a cashier and waitress to be near her husband, Wayne '43, who was then in C.P.S. He is now an assistant high school principal with a PhD in education from the University of Michigan. Dorothy is a nursery and kindergarten Sunday-school teacher and teaches a women's Bible class that meets in the evenings in the class members' homes. She has also taken a sociology course at the University of Michigan Extension in Dearborn. The Millers have four children: Myrna, a nursing graduate of GC; Maurice, a GC junior and varsity basketball player; Marlene, a high school sophomore, and Marilyn, in the seventh grade.

Mary K. Oyer, Goshen, Ind., received her master's degree in music in 1947 and her AMusD, in 1958, both from the University of Michigan. She studied at the University of Edinburgh, and is now professor of music at GC.

Mrs. Melvin (Lois Yoder) Rensberger, Middlebury, Ind., is a free lance writer, substitute teacher at Fairfield High School and a homemaker for her husband, a farmer, and their four children. Lois has attended two Writers' Conferences, one at Earlham College and one at Green Lake, Wis., and has sold her writings to "Mennonite," "With," "Christian Living," "Interchurch" and "Saint's Herald" publications. She is a Sunday-school teacher and a staff member of Partly Dave, a teenage coffeehouse in Elkhart.

Mrs. Lawrence A. (Rachel Smith) Ringenberg, Tiskilwa, Ill., works in the business office of Perry Memorial Hospital, Princeton, Ill., where she also worked as a nurse aid. Before she was married, Rachel worked in a county Farm Bureau office. She is church secretary of Willow Springs Mennonite Church and has sung with Willow Springs Choral Singers for 20 years. The Ringenbergs, he is a farmer, have four children, one at GC.

Mrs. Roy D. (Carolyn Byler) Roth, Siletz, Ore., and her husband, Roy '43, plan to chaperone a group of high school music students on a workshop tour in Salzburg and Vienna, Austria, next summer. When they return, the Roths will move to Eugene, Ore., where Roy will study music at the University of Oregon, prior to going to Eastern Mennonite College in the fall of 1971. Carolyn plans to take some work in special education and then teach when they move to Harrisonburg. She has already attended Oregon College of Education for certification in elementary education, and has taught in the Siletz schools. Roy is pastor of Logsden Church and has taught high school music and some German. The Roths have four children, including Veronica '69, and Becky '70 and Jill '71, GC students.

Elbert N. Smith, Upland, Calif., is pastor of the 520-member Upland Brethren in Christ Church. The congregation has an active youth program; last Christmas the youth choir toured Mexico on an "Evangelism Crusade." He received the MRE from Eastern Baptist Seminary in '58. Church and community activities include membership on the National Board of Christian Education, chairman of the commission on Sunday schools, secretary of the Pension Fund Trustees, and treasurer of Western Christian High School. Married to the former Arlene June Miller '46, full-time pastor's wife and mother of five.

Teacher Enjoys Work with Religious Drama Group

Mrs. Peter G. (Marian R. Hershey) Smith, Downington, Pa., teaches a sixth grade class in Downington, taught four years in Coatesville District in primary grades, and now feels she enjoys the work of the upper grades the most. She has taken courses at West Chester State College, Penn State and Penn State Extension classes given locally. She traveled twice to England and visited Switzerland on the second trip. Marian is a member of Hopewell United Methodist Church and is involved with the "Hilltoppers", a group interested in religious drama. They have presented the "Passion Play" for the past seven years. Cast and production persons are all Hopewell church members who have given of their time not only to the plays, but to build a 1000-seat amphitheater. Marian's husband is a selfemplyed kitchen cabinetmaker. They have one child.

Edgar P. Sprunger, Berne, Ind., was graduated from Northwestern University Dental School in 1946. After spending two years in the U.S. Army Dental Corps, he opened an office for general practice. The Sprungers are members of Berne West Missionary Church where Edgar teaches a Sunday-school class and is president of the Family Circle Group. He is also vice-president of the local Youth for Christ organization. The Sprungers have four children.

Mrs. Gordon (Lela Springer) Stalter, Minier, Ill., took laboratory technician training at St. Francis Hospital, Peoria, Ill., and then worked in a doctor's office. After marriage Lela moved to Denver, Colo., and worked there for two years at St. Luke's Hospital. She now works part-time at Hopedale Hospital. The Stalters attend Open Bible Church where Lela teaches Sunday school. She and her husband, superintendent of Hopedale Water Works, have four children: LaRita, married, with three children; Colleen, a student at Illinois State University; Lonnie, a high school student, and Dale, in grade school.

Minister-Missionary Family Working in South Florida

Mrs. C. Louis (Betta Lu Cripe) Strahm, Belle Glade, Fla., attended Fort Wayne Bible Institute after GC days and received her diploma in the missionary course. Through the years she has assisted her husband in his pastorates with the Missionary Church in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio, and now assists him in working with the sugar cane field hands who come from the West Indies Island for employment in Florida. Betta Lu teaches women's and children's Bible classes and Sunday school and feels the work is comparable to missionary efforts in foreign lands. Before living in Florida, Betta Lu lived in Goshen, where her husband was a minister, and she taught Bible classes at Model School and served as school secretary. The Strahms have two children.

Mrs. Arthur (Joan Yoder) Weaver, Rye, N.Y., has taught school in Bellefontaine, Ohio, Elkhart, Ind., and now is teaching kindergarten in ungraded Osborn School, in Rye. Her husband, Arthur '47, is vice-president of operations at Whitehall Laboratories. They have three children.

Mrs. Norman F. (Julia Ann Goodell) Weaver, Williamsville, N.Y., worked at First National Bank in Goshen, before her marriage. She is now a homemaker and takes part as well in a number of civic activities. Julia was a secretary of the Town of Clarena Baseball Association, a Brownie Girl Scout leader team for girls. She belongs to Nativity of Mary Church at Harris Hill and is a member of the church guild. The Weaver family, including four children, lived in Siena, Italy, for a year during 1965-66, while Prof. Weaver, a history teacher at State University, Buffalo, N.Y., was leader of a student study group. The Weavers plan a sabbatical in 1971 to study Italian history and the language further.

Training Director Works at Home For Severely Retarded Children

Mrs. L. Glen (Lois Johns) Yoder, Maumee, Ohio, is training director at Sunshine Children's Home, where her husband Glen '44, is administrator. Lois and Glen have previously spent two years at the school and church at Culp, Ark., and were at Kansas City Mennonite Children's Home for 15 years. They have been at Sunshine Home, a home for 104 severely retarded children, for the past five years. Beside her BA and BS degrees from GC, Lois has taken several graduate courses in special education at the University of Kansas and University of Toledo. The Yoders have four children.

Dr. Richard J. Yoder, Barberton, Ohio, received his MD degree from Northwestern University in 1949 and completed his residency in obstetrics and gynecology at Akron City Hospital, Ohio, in 1956. He is now in private practice in Barberton and delivered 333 babies in 1969. Dr. Yoder is a charter member of Akron Mennonite Church and a member of the board of trustees of Central Christian High School, Kidron, Ohio. He is also a member and past president of the Akron OB and Gyn Society. Mrs. Yoder was Rosalie Hooley '46. The Adrians are members of Goshen's First Baptist Church where Elmer is a deacon and a Sunday-school teacher. He and his wife, Katherine, have one child.

Norma Albrecht, Upland, Calif., lived in Puerto Rico for two years after leaving GC, then was in banking trust work in Sarasota, Fla., and Pasadena, Calif., and in 1965 started teaching fourth grade in Ontario School, Ontario, Calif. That same year she received the BA from Upland

John's Jottings

By John L. Frankenfield, Director of Alumni Relations and Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association

Yes, Virginia, there is an Alumni Department. Alumni come in all sizes, colors, and shapes. They are also available in different age groups. Some will tell you, "I remember when the campus was three buildings on about nine acres." Others will say, "I was there during the growth period of the late '50's."

What they will all tell you is that GC never lost the ability to emphasize culture for service—whether it was 70 years ago or just last year. No matter what year you were graduated or enrolled, the aim of Goshen has always been the same—to prepare young men and women who shall have all their interests and powers cultivated and their energies directed toward the end of true service.

Your Alumni Department is ready to develop and expand its services to alumni in conformity with "Culture for Service." For instance, what would you like to hear about in Alumni College? What would bring you back to campus? Got any ideas on Homecoming? Do you need someone's name and address? Would you like the names of other alumni living in your area? Would you have need of an alumni placement bureau? Would you like to plan a trip to the moon? (I'm serious.)

Yes, Virginia, there is an Alumni Department—and it's yours.

College, Calif. Norma is a member of First Mennonite Church, Upland.

Joe Alderfer, Chicago Heights, Ill., senior designer for the University of Chicago Press, was formerly director of design for Mennonite Publishing House in Scottdale, Pa. His wife is Alma Jane Trumbo '57, now a homemaker-student. They have one child.

Mrs. Mahlon (Julia Ebersole) Amstutz, Denver, Colo., received her nursing degree in 1956 from LaJunta School of Nursing and has done public health, private and general duty nursing since. Her time has mostly been spent as a homemaker and mother of four children. Julia sings with her church choir and does some solo work, plays the violin in a community orchestra and is active in PTA groups. Her husband, Mahlon '52, is a public school administrator.

Mrs. Keith (Roma K. Wyman) Anglemyer, Wakarusa, Ind., has taught school for 12 years in Wakarusa. She has her MS degree in education with an endorsement in special ed from St. Mary's College, South Bend, Ind. The Anglemyers, he is a real estate salesman, attend Bethel Missionary Church in Goshen. They have two children.

Contracting Partner Also Has Teaching Certificate

Andreas Balzer, Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, earned his teaching certificate going to night classes at the University of British Columbia while he was employed as a machine operator. At present he is in partnership with his brother in Framing Contractors. Andreas is active in the Culloden Mennonite Brethren Church as assistant Sunday-school superintendent, church secretary, and Sunday-school teacher. His wife, Hildegard (Penner) is a homemaker and mother of their two children.

She did work as a legal secretary and was a staff writer for the Goshen, Ind., News. Sue is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church and teaches a Sunday-school class of girls, aged 9-12. She and her husband have two children.

Mr. and Mrs. Don (Marilyn Brenneman) Brenneman, Pehuajo, Argentina, are working under Mennonite Board of Missions. Since 1967 they have been in Argentina where Don is pastor of the Pehuajo congregation and also oversees the pastoral work of two smaller churches. After GC graduation he stayed on and received the additional ThB degree and also had a year of study at Goshen in 1966-67. Also in 1967 he studied at Facultad Evangelica de Teologia, Buenos Aires. Don worked in Corpus Christi, Texas, and helped begin a church among Latin Americans; he also spent eight years as pastor of Second Mennonite Church in Chicago, which serves Spanish-speaking people. During these years Marilyn has been a schoolteacher in New Paris, Ind., Goshen, and in Chicago as well as a pastor's wife and mother of David, 13, Jonathan, 10, and Rosalind, 7.

Private Teacher Spent Over Seven Years in Voluntary Service Work

Delores Bohn, Tepic, Nayarit, Mexico, spent over seven years in voluntary service working in Mathis and Corpus Christi, Texas. She taught kindergarten and Bible school and did other church related work. Delores is now teaching the four children of the Richard Fahndrich family, Mennonites from Oregon. She also does church work such as teaching Sunday school and Bible school, directing church services, leading music and playing the guitar and accordion. Delores is superintendent of a Sunday school and president of a missions committee. Other work includes doing illustrations for use in teaching Spanish, teaching a class of adults to read Spanish, and planning to teach a group of young persons to be Sunday-school teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Ruth Zook) Burkholder, Elkhart, Ind., have two children. Charles has his master's degree in social work from Ohio State U., and is now executive director of Family Counseling Service of Elkhart County. The Burkholders have two children who keep Ruth busy as a homemaker.

Eva Byers, Choma, Zambia, Africa, received her master's degree from Boston University School of Nursing in the clinical specialty of nursing children. She also took a year of post master's study in maternal-child health nursing at Boston U. Eva is directing a nurses' training school in Zambia at Macha Mission Hospital under the direction of the Brethren in Christ Church World Missions. The two-year program is similar to the Licensed Practical Nurse program in the U.S. Eva is also responsible for the spiritual and recreational activities of her students, so she teaches a Bible class and organizes prayer meeting groups. Four times a month she accompanies students on trips into the area around the hospital and conducts well children clinics and gives health education lectures. They sometimes see 150-200 children under five years old, a day. Helping to formulate the Nurse Practice Act for Zambia and serving as an alternate for the nurse representative on the Medical Committee of the Christian Council of Zambia have been other worthwhile activities for Eva.

Gals Have Ball Leggin' Full Court

The Maple Leaf gals bounced to a perfect 9-0 season against major school competition (Huntington, Ball State, Taylor, Western Michigan, Purdue, Illinois, Calvin, and Valparaiso) this year. With that record, the squad has reason to smile. From left around the huddle are Joyce Beck, Rachel Kaufmann, Carol Reschly, Rosemary Stoltzfus, Coach Ruth Gunden, Mary Hartzler, and Jan Schrock. Not pictured are Jan Roth, Sharon Swartley, Rose Kettlebar, Kathy Brenneman, Vicki Mester, and Linda Miller.

For years girls were confined to the half court which involved six players and a number of those weren't allowed to cross the center line. Gradually over the years the rules of the game have changed. This year was the first for full court ball, and it's coming closer all the time to matching men's rules. There's also plenty of contact as a Western Michigan defender tries to block shooting ace Linda Miller's shot, but to no avail.

Vicki Mester, forward, gets the elbow from a WMU frontliner, while Mary Hartzler (12) scraps for a loose ball. When five-player ball was introduced for women, members of the GC men's varsity began to go to practice early to watch them practice and see how they adapted to their game. And they didn't laugh.

High School English Teacher Has Taught in Several Schools

Florence Hoover, Goshen, Ind., is teaching junior and senior English classes at Bethany High School, Goshen, and keeping house for her father, who will be 80 years old in June. 'Lancaster New Era' Features Camp Grizzly, of Millen '57

A Lancaster New Era news feature on Jim Millen '57 describes Camp Grizzly, a camp for boys that he owns in Fairbanks, Alaska.

The New Era quotes Millen, "I bought the camp and went into partnership with a guide and outfitter three years ago."

The camp teaches youngsters to live off the land.

"There's no electric. You have to pump water by hand and carry it to the cabins in buckets. It teaches a boy a new outlook. He realizes his own potential. He learns he can survive by relying on nature and hard work," Millen says.

"The camp is run by my partner and his wife and four counselors. We have kids from all over the world. We take 32 boys a year, 16 in two four-week sessions. It would cost a boy here about $1,200. In Alaska, without travel expenses, it would cost a boy about $500."

Millen's partner helped arrange a recent hunting trip, in which Millen bagged a 1,100 pound polar bear in 25-below-zero arctic weather.

Reservations Now Being Taken For Alumni Tour to Europe

There's still time for you to reserve space on the GC Alumni European Tour, to be led by Dr. John S. Oyer, professor of history, July 30-August 20.

A student of European history and affairs and a former European relief worker, Prof. Oyer is well versed in Europe's lore and will introduce you to the history, geography, and arts of the continent in three weeks.

Departing from New York City and landing in Rome, you will cross the continent, visit the catacombs, museums where the art of Rembrandt is hung, a few outstanding cathedrals and prominent castles, a Holland ceramics works, Menno Simons country, Berlin, and see the day-long Oberammergau Passion Play (performed only every tenth year), and many other stops neglected by the ordinary commercial tour.

Other features of the tour include Florence, Italy, "Cradle of Renaissance"; the Alps; the abbey at Heidelberg; the dikes and canals of Holland, and its picturesque villages where villagers still wear traditional costumes; and an afternoon sightseeing excursion in East Berlin after crossing the border at Checkpoint Charlie. There will also be time in various cities for shopping, leisure, and individual exploration.

Both with Master's Degrees Now At Michigan State U.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. M. (Betty J. Voran) Smucker, East Lansing, Mich., both earned their master's degrees from Michigan State, last year. Al's degree was in soil science and included reasearch on sand soil reclamation in Taiwan, sponsored by the Ford Foundation. He has fulfilled his 1-W service and is now part way through the doctoral program in soil physics. Betty earned her degree in textiles and clothing and did research in the sociological aspects of clothing. She is now an instructor in the department of textiles and clothing at MSU. The Smuckers attend East Lansing Trinity Church, teach Sunday school and sing in the choir. Al is also involved in the Christian Service Brigade.

Ellen M. Smucker, Smithville, Ohio, is the food service head at Westview Manor, a retirement and nursing home with nearly 90 residents. She is active in 4-H work and is in charge of grades 4-8 in junior meetings for her church Sunday evening services.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell (Linda K. Wyse) Smucker, Bloomington, Ind., are studying at Indiana University this year. Russ is working on his PhD in math, (he has his MA from Kent State University), and Linda is studying library science. During 1967-69 Russ taught at GC and Linda taught at Towncrest Junior High in Goshen, and taught in the high school and supervised the elementary libraries in the Fairfield School System, near Goshen. The Smuckers attend Mennonite Sunday-school class in University Presbyterian Chapel.

Mrs. James (B. Arlene Miller) Snavely, Lancaster, Pa., has worked as a public health nurse for the past three years. She and her husband attend Neffsville Mennonite Church, where Arlene teaches a Sunday-school class and helps with a girls' club. Her husband, a builder, is youth superintendent and teaches a college age Sunday-school class.

Intern at Pennsylvania Hospital To Start Residency Soon

Earl J. Snyder, Abington, Pa., has his MD degree from Temple University and is now interning at Abington Memorial Hospital. He expects to start his residency in surgery next summer. Earl's wife is a teacher at Temple U. They attend the Presbyterian Church.

Ivan D. Snyder, San Juan, Puerto Rico, spent two years in Voluntary Service in San Juan after GC and then took graduate work at the University of Michigan for two years. He is presently working in the credit center of Sears, Roebuck and Company, in San Juan. Ivan is assistant Sunday-school superintendent at Metropolitan Mennonite Church, San Juan, and also sings in the church choir.

Mrs. Aldis (Barbara A. Gerber) Steiner, Apple Creek, Ohio, taught piano at Central Christian High School, Kidron, Ohio, and later physical ed for girls. During 1967-68 she was at a mission station in Chillicothe, Ohio, where she taught piano privately and violin in the public school after the regular teacher died in a car accident. Barbara entered a one-mile bicycle race for women while she lived in Chillicothe, won, and received a trophy. After the birth of their son, Bradley, last August 24, the Steiners moved to Kidron. They attend Longenecker Mennonite Church, where Barbara is assistant Sunday-school song leader and Aldis teaches a youth class. He is a milk truck driver for Kidron Cheese Factory. In addition to homemaking duties, Barbara still does private piano teaching.

Daniel C. Steiner, Elkhart, Ind., received his MA degree in special ed from St. Mary's College, South Bend, Ind., last summer, and is now music therapist at Aux Chandelles, Elkhart, a day center for the trainable mentally retarded. Right after GC days, Dan taught vocal music at West Side Junior High in Elkhart. He is married to the former Vera Lou Yoder, and they have two children. The Steiners are active in the music work of Hively Avenue Mennonite Church, and Dan teaches a ninth grade Sunday-school class.

Teacher Attending Grad School; Wife Is Homemaker-Nurse

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley R. (Margaret J. Mann) Steiner, Goshen, Ind., attend Pleasant View Church. Wesley is taking graduate work at St. Francis College, Fort Wayne, Ind., and teaches at Concord Junior High School, near Goshen. From GC graduation until last year he farmed and taught school at Scott City, Kan. Margaret keeps busy at home with their child, and some nursing work.

Abraham Stoll, Hillsdale, Mich., started his teaching career at North Davies Community Schools, Odon, Ind., then taught at Jonesville, Mich., High School, and now is an English teacher at North Adams, Mich., High School. He has some advanced study credit from Indiana State University, Terre Haute. The Stolls attend Liberty Mennonite Church, Liberty, Mich., where Abe is Sunday-school superintendent. The Swartzendrubers—she was Carolyn Martin '59, a nurse—are members of College Mennonite Church where Sanford is head usher, on the Witness and Service Commission and secretary of the Spanish-American migrant ministry of Mennonite churches.

Elementary School Teacher Coaches Basketball

Douglas M. Thomas, Sterling, Ill., returned to GC for a semester after graduation to student teach and obtain a teaching certificate. The next year he began 1-W service as a teacher at Belleville Mennonite School, Belleville, Pa., and taught history and physical ed as well as coached basketball. In late 1968 Doug became sixth grade teacher at Rock Falls, Ill., where he also coaches basketball. He has taken several courses at Sauk Valley College, Dixon, Ill. Doug and his wife, Gladys (Blosser), have one son, Scott, one year old. The family recently joined Science Ridge Mennonite Church in Sterling.

William H. Thomas, Morrow, Ga., was graduated in March from Georgia State University with emphasis in psychology and biology. Before going back to his studies he worked in a lab for Humble Oil Company in Denver, Colo., spent two years in the U.S. Army and a year as a mechanic, a trade he still pursues. Mrs. Thomas was Frances Edmondson, a secretary.

Henry Troyer, Morgantown, W. Va., worked as a research assistant at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, for over two years after GC days. He was involved in a research project studying the properties of a serum factor associated with inflammatory conditions and was also instrumental in initiating a long term project studying degenerative joint disease (osteoarthritis). During his stay in Cleveland he also worked with the Cleveland Voluntary Service unit and served as a sponsor for 1-W men. In 1967-68 Henry enrolled as a part-time student at West Virginia University to prepare for graduate work in anatomy, and he is now studying in a PhD program in the anatomy department at West Virgina U. Medical Center and has a graduate teaching assistantship. Henry has also been in the home building business in his "spare time." He is married to the former Elsie Marie Miller, and they have two children, including Henry Conrad, born last November 29. The Troyers have attended Spruce Street Methodist Church where Henry is still involved with the missions program and serves as MYF counselor, but they are now attending Good Shepherd Church of the Brethren and Morgantown Mennonite Fellowship.

Assistant Director of Student Affairs Teaches Math at Hesston

Philip J. Troyer, Hesston, Kan., went to Indiana University to do graduate work and held a teaching assistantship after leaving GC. A year later he began work as a Voluntary Service leader in LaJunta, Colo., and then became personnel director at LaJunta Medical Center. Spring Snowfall Is Ideal for Sculpture

An unexpected spring snowfall prompted a small group of students to build a bunny near the Arts Building. The next morning (left to right) Miss Judith Beechy, senior from Goshen, Ind.; Miss Peggy Derstine, an Eastern Mennonite College student visiting the campus, and Miss Joanne Landis, freshman from Mainland, Pa., paused between classes long enough to pet it and wish it good luck.

Do you have a son or daughter who's a high school junior?

Each summer GC hosts a group of high school juniors who want a chance to get the feel of college life. They visit college classes, live in residence halls with college students enrolled in GC's spring trimester, study in a workshop led by a GC prof, have an afternoon of fun at Pokagon State Park, talk with counselors about their future, learn to know other guys and gals.

This summer College Preview is set for June 13-20. Workshops will be in "Contemporary Social Problems," "Mathematics and Physical Science" (with opportunity to program the new PDP-8 computer), "International Studies," "Christian Faith and the Contemporary Crisis," and "Drama and Mass Communication."

There's a Preview for parents, too. Mom and Dad are invited to be guests of Goshen College on June 13 and 14.

Reservations for Son and Daughter (inclusive fee is $25) are being accepted now. For more information, write without delay to Mr. John M. Zook, Associate Director of Admissions, Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana 46526.

GOSHEN COLLEGE BULLETIN
Vol. LXIV, No. 3
April, 1970

Have your cake . . . and eat it too.

By giving, you continue to receive.

Let's say you enter into a Charitable Gift Annuity agreement with Goshen College. Most important, your gift will help Goshen College continue to prepare young men and women for lives of usefulness.

But you learn that by giving you receive. First, you are guaranteed an income for the rest of your life. For example, if your annuity is for yourself only, and:

Your age is	Your rate of return is
72	6.0 per cent
75	6.5 per cent
78	7.1 per cent
81	7.7 per cent
84	8.0 per cent

Second, you pay income taxes on only part of that income.

You even receive more than that. If the gift money were in your savings account instead of a Charitable Gift Annuity, you would receive less than the published rate of return on your principle. Why? Because you must pay income tax on bank interest. That's another way your spendable income can increase by entering into a Charitable Gift Annuity Agreement.

Your annuity also gives you generous tax deductions the first year. And that means more real income for you that year.

For more information and a copy of the table of annuity rates, write to Heritage. . . Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana 46526.

SPECIAL PRESIDENTIAL ANNOUNCEMENT EDITION

GOSHEN COLLEGE

BULLETIN

MENNO HIST. LIBRARY

Burkholder Named President

Dr. J. Lawrence Burkholder, professor at Harvard Divinity School and former resident and professor at Goshen, has been elected by the Mennonite Board of Education to be Goshen College's tenth president.

Dr. Burkholder will assume responsibilities of the office July 1, 1971. During the interim year, Dr. Carl Kreider, dean of the College, will be acting president. His election was also announced by the Mennonite Board of Education.

Dr. Henry D. Weaver Jr., professor of chemistry and director of international education, will be acting dean during the interim year, according to action by the Goshen College Board of Overseers. Prof. Weaver is currently on sabbatical leave in Nepal.

Dr. Paul Mininger, whose resignation from the office of president is effective June 30, has served as chief executive of the school for 16 years.

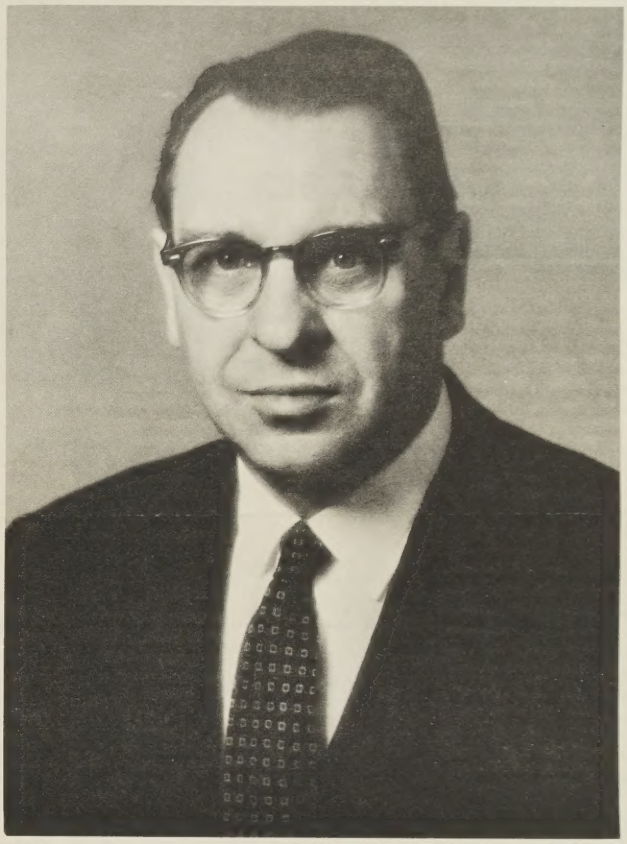
Goshen Graduate

Dr. Burkholder is a 1939 Goshen College graduate. He received the bachelor of divinity degree from Gettysburg Theological Seminary in 1942, the master of theology degree from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1951, and the doctor of theology degree summa cum laude from Princeton in 1958. In 1965-66 on a sabbatical leave from Harvard he did research at Cambridge University in England.

Ordained by Bishop D.A. Yoder in 1942, he was pastor of the Croghan (N.Y.) Mennonite Church for two years, when he volunteered for relief work in China. After a year of service in India, he administered the China relief program of Mennonite Central Committee and Church World Service until December, 1948, when he and his family were evacuated from Shanghai. He returned to the Far East in 1954 as relief commissioner to Vietnam under Church World Service.

In 1949 he joined the faculty of Goshen College, where he taught Bible and philosophy courses for 12 years. Former students will remember him as teacher of such courses as introduction to Christianity, fundamentals of Christian faith, Christian discipleship, introduction to philosophy, logic, and ethics.

In 1961 he accepted a post at Harvard Divinity School to develop a new program in the structure and mission of the church, a program which emerged as a new department of the church. In 1964 he was named by Harvard President Pusey to the chair of Victor S. Thomas Professor of Divinity. Also at Harvard he has organized an extensive field education program for the Divinity School plus a post-graduate program in continuing education for ministers. He is a member of the president's committee on Clinical Psychology and is helping to set up an interdisciplinary program in clinical psychology and public practice at Harvard.



J. Lawrence Burkholder, Th.D., GC's tenth president

Pastor and Writer

When the Burkholders moved to Harvard in 1961, they immediately organized a Mennonite fellowship, which meets regularly in their home. Dr. Burkholder serves as one of its pastors.

An author, he has written numerous articles for theological and denominational publications, plus a variety of booklets, and contributed to a number of books. Currently in process are two articles and a book, "The Third Way."

In 1969 Dr. Burkholder was appointed by the denomination-wide board of education — the same board which elected him president — as the Conrad Grebel Lecturer. His lecture series in church renewal was delivered at a number of places, including Goshen College.

Native of Pennsylvania

Dr. Burkholder, 52, is a native of Newville, Pa., the son of the late Prof. and Mrs. Henry L. Burkholder. Prof. Burkholder was a teacher of philosophy of education at Shippensburg State College.

Dr. Burkholder is married to the former Harriet Lapp, daughter of the late George J. Lapp, who served as interim president of Goshen College 1918-19 and was one of the denomination's early missionaries to India.

The Burkholders are parents of two sons and two daughters. Myrna, a 1963 Goshen College graduate, is a social worker in New York; Howard is a graduate of Harvard University and a candidate for the B.D. degree at Harvard Divinity School; Janet Louise is a junior at Goshen College; and Gerald is a high school freshman.

Dr. Burkholder plans to stay at Harvard until February 1, 1971, to carry forward work already begun. Between then and July 1 he will be preparing for his new assignment, and visiting colleges and the Study-Service Trimester units abroad operated by Goshen College.

The Burkholders live at 42 Frost Street, Arlington, Massachusetts.

Members of Boards Pleased with Selection

Peter Wiebe, a member of the seven-member president selection committee which was unanimous in its choice of Dr. Burkholder, said, "J. Lawrence Burkholder as president of Goshen College brings a breadth of experience in church-service programs, educational ventures, administrative know-how, and personal commitment to the church. His warm and friendly demeanor will permeate student and faculty and win its way into the various constituencies supporting Goshen College. I feel Lawrence is God's gift to GC for the decade ahead." Wiebe was appointed to the committee by the Mennonite Board of Education.

In talking about the reasons for choosing a particular person, Wilbert Shenk, representative of the Board of Overseers on the selection committee, said, "The committee was deeply aware of the tests through which the Christian college is being put in this time. The challenge is to keep the educational enterprise connected to our spiritual roots so that the Christian young person is equipped to respond vigorously to contemporary society." Shenk is secretary for overseas missions at Mennonite Board of Missions, of Elkhart.

Charles W. Ainlay, Goshen attorney, chairman of the College's President's Advisory Board, and a selection committee member, said, "J. Lawrence Burkholder's background is that of service and dedication to his church and to his profession as an educator. He is admirably equipped to meet the challenge of leading Goshen College forward vigorously in its mission of providing Christian-centered college education."

Prof. John S. Oyer, elected by the faculty to the selection committee, said, "It was the committee's opinion that he was clearly the best candidate among many. His strengths include an intellectual and physical vigor; deep appreciation of the Mennonite Church and its various ministries; a first-rate skill at communicating — with the church, students, and faculty; a willingness to handle difficult and delicate issues with tact; and a deep dedication to the church-controlled liberal arts college." Dr. Oyer is professor of history.

Elected by the student body to represent it on the committee was Don Troyer, a junior from Goshen, Ind. He said, "Dr. Burkholder has long

Mrs. Edwin Alderfer, elected by the Alumni Association to the selection committee, said, "I believe Lawrence Burkholder to be a man committed to God and the Mennonite Church in its Anabaptist tradition. He is experienced in Christian education, an able leader, a man of personal integrity and academic scholarship and training. . . For the realization of its ideals, the college requires a president who possesses the capacity for growth in all areas. I have confidence in Dr. Burkholder's ability to serve as president of Goshen College."

Dean Kreider, chairman of the selection committee, said, "Because of his experience as a professor of divinity in one of our nation's greatest schools of theology and because of his service as a pastor, many will think of Dr. Burkholder primarily as a churchman. In their unanimous vote recommending his appointment, the President Selection Committee was also deeply impressed by his administrative experience and by his concern for and appreciation of the local community. We are most enthusiastic about our choice and look forward to seeing Goshen College continue to advance on a broad front under Dr. Burkholder's dynamic leadership."

PRESIDENT MININGER DELIGHTED

Dr. Paul Mininger, outgoing president, said, "I am delighted with the choice of Lawrence Burkholder as the tenth president of Goshen College. His personal qualities, training and experience eminently qualify him to lead Goshen College at this point in its development. I commend him to the campus community, the church, the alumni, and the many friends of the college in northern Indiana and around the world.

"Under the leadership of Dr. Burkholder I have confidence that Goshen College will continue to provide our youth with a quality program of Christian higher education that includes the best in our heritage from the past and is also relevant to the needs of today and tomorrow."

Dr. Paul M. Lederach, president of the Mennonite Board of Education, said in a letter to pastors across the denomination, "Because of Lawrence's commitment to the Mennonite Church and to the educational ministry within the Mennonite-Anabaptist context, he has accepted this call to Goshen College. He has done this at much personal sacrifice, leaving the security and prestige of a brilliant career at an internationally known institution, to serve our brotherhood through Goshen College. From worldly standards this is hardly the way to go. But from the standpoint of Brother Burkholder's understanding of discipleship and brotherhood he was ready to accept this responsibility if called by the church. The Goshen College Presidential Selection Committee was unanimous that Brother Burkholder should be called. The Goshen College Overseers were unanimous in their decision to recommend him to the Board of Education for election; the Executive Board of the Board of Education was unanimous in its decision to recommend him to the Board. The Board of Education has acted upon this joint recommendation and has elected Brother Lawrence Burkholder to the Presidency of Goshen College."

Daniel Kauffman, chairman of the board of overseers, said that Dr. Burkholder met with the board on April 4. He continued, "We were impressed with his concepts of the role of the private church-related college in the church and society. There is no question in my mind he will bring with him an expertise in planning and program development. His understanding of the current scene in education, his sensitive concern for student needs, his belief that God is at work in society, and his broad background in church and community relations, will assure a continued and growing strong Goshen College."

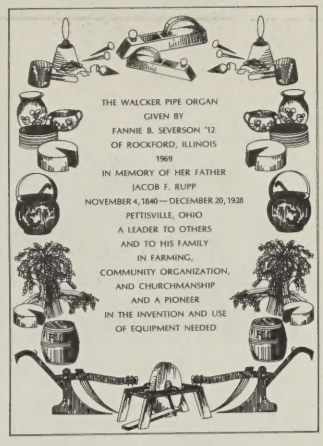
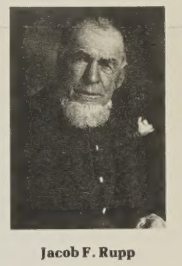
Albert Zehr, a member of the board of overseers who also met with the president-elect in early April, said, "As a Canadian, I am concerned that Goshen maintains and fosters a world perspective, which sees beyond a shallow provincial Americanism. For his keen insights in this regard and for his forward-looking stance, I am excited about J. Lawrence Burkholder as our new president."

Commencement: Organ Dedica

THE JACOB F. RUPP MEMORIAL ORGAN, dedicated in "A Festival of Thanksgiving" on Saturday evening, April 18, 1970, is a two-manual instrument, of classic design, and contains 26 ranks of pipes (21 stops). It was manufactured by Walcker Orgelbau, of Ludwigsburg, Germany, one of the oldest and most distinguished firms in the history of pipe organ manufacture.



MOUNTED ON THE ORGAN, the plaque is further tribute to Jacob F. Rupp, nineteenth-century pioneer farmer, inventor, and church and community leader. He was well known for ability to design and build equipment; at least one of his inventions is in the Washington, D.C., Patent Office Museum. Even though he was not privileged to have formal education, he read and wrote German and English and taught his sons and daughters how to read and write German. He was among the few to foresee in his time the values of secondary and higher education and assisted his sons and daughters beyond the elementary grades.



Jacob F. Rupp

Eliza Roth Rupp

MRS. FANNIE B. SEVERSON, a 1912 GC graduate and donor of the organ, is by profession a teacher and writer. She taught several years in Ohio's public schools and published in 1949 a memorial book about her youngest son, Robert Duncan Severson, killed in action during the closing days of World War II. Among her current research projects are a history of the pioneers of Fulton County, Ohio, and a history of her father. Her interest in GC has been renewed because of her research into her family's past. She has observed, "In spite of periods of depression, Goshen College has taken its place in forging ahead into bold new plans in the field of higher education."

THE CHURCH-CHAPEL was filled to overflowing for the service. Richard Litterst, of the faculty of Rockford and Beloit colleges, and minister of music and organist of the Second Congregational Church, of Rockford, Ill., was the organ recitalist.

MISS MYRA NAFZIGER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Marvin Nafziger, Goshen, Ind., was one of 280 seniors who were awarded four-year bachelors' degrees in the Sunday afternoon commencement service, April 19, 1970, in the Union Auditorium. The service was attended by an overflow crowd. Among those taking part were Dr. Robert McIntyre, general editor, "The Wesleyan Advocate," of Fort Wayne, Ind., who offered the invocation, and the Rev. Norman Derstine, director of church relations, Eastern Mennonite College, Harrisonburg, Va., who pronounced the benediction. President Mininger presided; Dr. John H. Yoder delivered the main address.

Three Presidents Recognized And Study Center Announced

In a special ceremony after the degrees were awarded, the three living presidents of Goshen College were recognized, and the Center for Study of Christian Discipleship was announced.

In announcing the setting up of the study center, President Mininger said it will give new emphasis to the college's character as a church college and will aid in the study of the Christian life style in the modern world from the perspective of the unique heritage and contribution of Anabaptism. Director of the center will be Dr. C. Norman Kraus, professor of religion.

The program of the center for the first two years is being underwritten by a Northern Indiana businessman and his son who have found inspiration in the dedicated life of Sanford C. Yoder, Goshen College's seventh president, and others like him.

Announces First Professorship

The setting up of the school's first professorship, the Sanford Calvin Yoder Professorship in Christian Life and Service, was also announced by Pres. Mininger. The chair, which will perpetuate Dr. Yoder's foremost example of Christian discipleship, will be held by a member of the faculty who will also be on the staff of the newly established study center.

The text of the citation was: "Sanford C. Yoder has been a prophetic voice in the Mennonite Church. In every role — college president, professor, counselor; conference moderator, bishop, pastor, evangelist; author, public speaker, mission board executive, and mediator — he has stalwartly upheld the life, faith, and heritage of the Christian Church. His first goals have always been to inspire abiding loyalty to Jesus Christ and to instruct by precept and example the true meaning of Christian discipleship. The Sanford Calvin Yoder Professorship in Christian Life and Service is a tribute to his fine spirit and dedication to the total cause of Christian higher education."

PRESIDENT PAUL MININGER preached the baccalaureate sermon, "The Reconciling Person," in the Church-Chapel Sunday morning, April 19. Closed circuit TV was set up in the fellowship room to accommodate the overflow crowd. Among those taking part in the service were Miss Lorene Wagler, junior, Morgantown, Ind.; Gerald Derstine, senior, Harrisonburg, Va.; James Yoder, senior, Fort Wayne, Ind.; and Michael Yoder, freshman, Goshen, Ind., who sang folk hymns.

Because Dr. Yoder, 90, a resident of Pleasant View Home, Kalona, Iowa, was not able to be on hand for the presentation, the citation was given to his daughter, Mrs. LaVerne Hostetler, of Goshen, Ind.

Endowment Announced

The setting up of the Ernest Edgar Miller Endowment for Intercultural Education will perpetuate the persistent and successful efforts for world-wide Christian service and responsibility that have characterized Dr. Miller, Dr. Mininger said.

The citation read, "One of the Mennonite Church's early missionaries and first relief workers, Ernest E. Miller has, throughout his life, borne a profound concern for the world mission of the church and exemplified 'Culture for Service' to generations of young persons. In promoting civilian service training for work of national importance and in launching the church's first relief workers training school, he anticipated Voluntary Service and Pax, forerunner of the Peace Corps. In establishing an inter-Mennonite exchange program for international students and in encouraging European tours that combined study, travel, and work, he set the foundation for the Study-Service Trimester abroad and a college-level program for the culturally disadvantaged. It is proper that the noble ideals which motivated him be carried forth by a succession of others through the Ernest Edgar Miller Endowment for Intercultural Education."

Dr. Miller, 76, a resident of Goshen, was on hand for the presentation.

Honors Outgoing President

Daniel Kauffman, of Scottdale, Pa., chairman of the college's Board of Overseers, presented President Mininger a citation for his creative and faithful leadership in college, church, and community during his 18 years of administration. Dr. Mininger is retiring from the presidency on June 30.

The text of the citation, which was presented "with affection" and was signed by all 23 current and former members of the Board of Overseers, was:

"You have served with distinction for sixteen years as president of Goshen College. You have begun new things such as the Goshen Plan, the Study Service Term Abroad, the Counselors' and Pastors' Program, the Office of Experimentation in Christian Higher Education. You have been a stimulating leader of faculty and students, professional peers, fellow churchmen, patrons. In lonely vigil, in public address, in endless travel, by day and by night you have persevered.

"The Scriptures say that a steward is expected to be faithful. We commend you as a faithful steward of one of the Mennonite Church's largest enterprises.

"We acknowledge that you have set us a vigorous example of innovation, flexibility, dedication and thoroughness. And we salute you, Paul Mininger: president, educator, Mennonite churchman and Christian gentleman."

Alumni College Featured on Alumni Day, June 20

Atlee Beechy

C. Franklin Bishop

A feature of the 1970 Alumni Day, Saturday, June 20, will be two sessions of Alumni College offered as continuing education to all guests of the day.

Designed to keep them up to date on important social issues, this year's College sessions focus on higher education and control of environment. Dr. Atlee Beechy and Dr. C. Franklin Bishop will chair the sessions.

"Higher Education and the '70's: The Nation, the Students, and Goshen College" will be Dr. Beechy's assignment. Joining GC's acting dean of students, director of the Office of Experimentation in Christian Higher Education, and professor of education, on the panel will be Dr. Tom Diener, director of the Institute of Higher Education, University of Georgia, and Dean Schertz, president of Goshen College Community Government. The session will begin at 10 a.m.

Dr. Bishop, professor of biology, will chair "Can We Be Good Managers of Our Environment?" in the 11 a.m. session. On his panel will be Alvin J. Smucker, graduate student at Michigan State University, and Dr. Lester J. Zimmerman, GC professor of mathematics.

Both sessions are set for Assembly Hall on the second floor of the Administration Building.

All interested persons are welcome to the sessions. Special effort was made to obtain a couple speakers on each panel from the classes holding reunions this year, and alumni of those classes will want to attend to hear what their colleagues are thinking and saying.

Other activities of Alumni Day are class reunions — the classes of 1925, 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950, 1955, 1960, and 1965 are planning reunions — and the Annual Alumni Banquet, this year honoring President and Mrs. Paul Mininger. The "Old-Timers" Banquet, for members of the Classes of 1920 and earlier, and their spouses, will be hosted by President and Mrs. Mininger in the Alumni Memorial Dining Room, Westlawn, at 6 p.m. Friday, June 19.

All alumni — whether or not they are graduates — of the reunion classes are warmly invited to their class gatherings. Alumni of all classes are welcome at the Saturday evening Alumni Banquet; reservations ($2 each) may be made by writing to Alumni Office.

Gokee Speaks in Series in Memory of Cecil Gingerich

The Rev. Gokee

The Rev. Donald L. Gokee, pastor of Conway Presbyterian Church, of Orlando, Fla., and chaplain for the Orange County Juvenile Courts, spoke at Goshen College in the Cecil L. Gingerich Memorial Lectures, May 6-8.

Winner of the Certificate of Merit for Distinguished Service to Christ, Church and Community and a former A. Morehouse and William Walker Scholar at George Washington University, Mr. Gokee is listed in the current Dictionary of International Biography.

The lecture series was in memory of Cecil L. Gingerich, a student at Goshen College in 1939-40 who died of leukemia in October, 1968. The late Mr. Gingerich developed a warm friendship with the Rev. Gokee based on conversations about the Christian faith and religious drama. Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Gingerich, of Sarasota, Fla., parents of the late Mr. Gingerich, the lecture series was made possible.

Mr. Gokee spoke in four public sessions, three of them at the regularly scheduled chapel hour. At 9:40 a.m. on May 6 his topic was "Shackled to Saturday," an evaluation of current man drawn from contemporary literature and drama. At 9:40 a.m. May 7 he spoke on "Dynamics of a Twentieth Century Faith." At 9:40 a.m. May 8 he led in a "Worship Happening," a chapel service that included religious folk songs, scripture, and audience participation.

In the only evening lecture, (May 7), in Assembly Hall, Mr. Gokee spoke on "Rod McKuen: Contemporary Voice in the Wilderness." In a special lecture to the faculty that afternoon, his topic was "Where It's At," and focused on services given at the Orlando Youth Center to drug addicts at their re-entry point.

Mr. Gokee received his undergraduate education at Michigan State and Temple universities. His graduate work was at Virginia Theological Seminary, Washington School of Psychiatry, and George Washington University. As director of Christian education and ordained minister, he has served churches in Chattanooga; Alexandria, Va.; and Sarasota, Fla.

In Orlando he is president of the ministerial association and a member of the citizens advisory commission on education. As chaplain for the Orange County Juvenile Courts he has worked beside law and welfare officers with young persons who have appeared in court and in setting up community services for persons labeled juvenile delinquents.

Bequest Received from Gingrich Estate

A bequest of $10,000.04 from the estate of Mrs. Barbara Gingrich, of Elkhart, Ind., has just been received at Goshen College. She was a daughter of J.S. Coffman, prominent pioneer Mennonite educator in whose remembrance Coffman Hall on the campus is named.

Mrs. Gingrich, a former resident of Freeport, Ill., was a member of the Prairie Street Mennonite Church and its WMSA.

President Mininger said, "Goshen College is grateful for this gift; the evidence of support is very timely."

You can have your cake . . . and eat it too.

By giving, you can continue to receive.

Let's say you enter into a Charitable Gift Annuity agreement with Goshen College. Most important, your gift will help Goshen College continue to prepare young men and women for lives of usefulness.

But you learn that by giving you receive. First, you are guaranteed an income for the rest of your life. For example, if your annuity is for yourself only, and:

Your age is	Your rate of return is
72	6.0 per cent
75	6.5 per cent
78	7.1 per cent
81	7.7 per cent
84	8.0 per cent

Second, you pay income taxes on only part of that income.

You even receive more than that. If the gift money were in your savings account instead of a Charitable Gift Annuity, you would receive less than the published rate of return on your principle. Why? Because you must pay income tax on bank interest. That's another way your spendable income can increase by entering into a Charitable Gift Annuity Agreement.

Your annuity also gives you generous tax deductions the first year. And that means more real income for you that year.

For more information and a copy of the table of annuity rates, write to Heritage . . . Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana 46526.

Alumni Honor Miningers

Three hundred alumni honored Dr. Paul Mininger, who has retired from the office of the college presidency after 16 years, and Mrs. Mininger at the annual banquet of the Alumni Association on June 20.

In a special ceremony, Dr. Paul M. Lederach, Scottdale, Pa., president of the Mennonite Board of Education, presented the outgoing president and his wife with a book of 167 letters, written by members of the board, faculty members, presidents of other Mennonite colleges and Indiana colleges, and friends of Goshen College.

Dr. Lederach said, "The board of education is grateful to Dr. Mininger for his many years of excellent service. We have been highly pleased with the work of Dr. Mininger in leading Goshen College over the past 16 years. And we express profound appreciation to Mary (Mrs. Mininger), for behind every great man is a great woman."

At the close of Dr. Lederach's speech, there was a standing ovation.

In another presentation, Dr. Larry L. Beachy, Goshen, Ind., president of the Alumni Association, gave to Dr. and Mrs. Mininger a "Farewell with Love" gift totaling $3,140. Dr. Beachy said the gift was from many alumni from virtually every part of the world. The gift is to be used for travel throughout the world by the Miningers during their one-year sabbatical leave which began in mid-July.

James Stemen '60, professor of music at Moorpark (Calif.) College, proposed a toast: "Dr. Mininger has given of himself so unselfishly and untiringly during the past decade and half in guiding Goshen College in its task of providing Christian higher education.

"On behalf of all classes of alumni, I propose a toast in recognition of his excellent leadership and in tribute to Dr. and Mrs. Mininger who have served Goshen College so faithfully and expertly from 1954 to the present day."

John J. Fisher Sr., of Goshen, a graduate of the class of 1914, spoke on behalf of the "Old-Timers."

The Miningers plan to spend the next year on the west coast where Dr. Mininger will be a visiting scholar at the Graduate Theological Union and Wright Institute, of Berkeley, Calif. They also plan a trip to Russia to study its educational system and observe firsthand the life and work of the church there. He said that the generous "travel purse" given him by the alumni will enable them to do more traveling than they might have done otherwise.

Boatwright is Homecoming artist

October 30-31 Set For Homecoming

October 30-31 has been set for the 1970 Homecoming at Goshen College, featuring a soccer contest between the Maple Leafs and Bluffton College and a concert by Bass-baritone McHenry Boatwright.

In 1968 the Maple Leafs trounced Bluffton 5-1; last year it was a repeat performance with a score of 5-2.

Boatwright's career has been studded with ovations and has claimed four of the most coveted awards in America — Chicagoland Music Festival, "Singing Discovery of the Year" on the Ed Sullivan Show, two consecutive Marian Anderson awards, and top honors in the men's division of the National Federation of Music Clubs biennial competition. At his world premiere performance of Gunther Schuller's opera, "The Visitation," the audience greeted him with 51 curtain calls.

With a commanding presence and warm spirit, he can "raise the roof" with huge sound or cause his listeners to stretch their audio nerves to catch a whisper.

In the closing group of songs at every concert, he dispenses with his accompanist and proceeds to play and sing Negro spirituals. As one critic wrote, "His approach to these beloved songs is one of great devotion."

Other high lights of the homecoming weekend are not ready to be announced. John L. Frankenfield, executive secretary of the Association and in charge of the details, said this year's program will include events for many groups of alumni. He said a special mailing early this fall will announce the complete line-up for the weekend.

Ready for Inspection

Campus and building identification signs were completed in time for Alumni Day. (Left) The GC marker, with limestone facing and lighted at night, is at the corner of Main and College and is the gift of the class of '68. (Right) The information kiosk, gift of the class of '60, is situated between the Memorial Library and the Union. A series of building identification signs in the same lettering style is the gift of the class of '70.

Alumni College Sessions Well Received

More than 75 alumni gathered in Assembly Hall the morning of Alumni Day for each of two specially planned alumni college sessions.

"Higher Education and the '70's: The Nation, the Students, and Goshen College" was discussed by (left to right) Dr. Tom Diener '55, director of Institute of Higher Education, University of Georgia; Dr. Atlee Beechy '35, acting dean of students, director of the Office of Experimentation in Christian Higher Education, and professor of education, GC; and Dean Schertz '71, president of GC Community Government.

"Can We Be Good Managers of Our Environment?" was discussed by (left to right) Alvin J. Smucker '65, graduate student, Michigan State University; Dr. C. Franklin Bishop '40, professor of biology, GC; and Dr. Lester J. Zimmerman '47, professor of mathematics, GC.

1970 ALUMNI FUND

GOSHEN COLLEGE
GOSHEN, INDIANA 46526

An Open Letter: Thank You

Dear Alumni:

When England's coal miners began leaving the pits during the war to get into the armed forces, Churchill was alarmed, for Britain's might depended on her coal. So he went to the mines to address them, urging them to stay at their vital work, and saying that at the war's end when heroes talked of El Alamein, the battle of the Atlantic or the passage to Murmansk, the miners could say as proudly as any man "We cut the coal!"

In the 1970 Alumni Fund which has now closed, there should be ribbons and awards for everyone, but especially for the class agents who gave so generously of their time and efforts. You who took part may well say that you "cut the coal" to make the Fund possible and provide the margin so necessary for our Alma Mater.

What an outcome too! There were 2,016 donors who contributed, and the dollar total is more than $100,000 — $100,750.15 to be exact.

But instead of looking to the past with pride, let us look to the future with hope. We who have contributed to the 1970 Annual Fund will want to plan our continued support through the 1971 Annual Fund. Those whose names, for some reason, do not appear on the Honor Roll pages, are invited to help build Goshen College in the year ahead.

Very sincerely yours,

Don Kreider

THE 1970 ALUMNI HONOR ROLL

LEGEND

denotes Goshen College Associate

*denotes Goshen College Partner

If some names are incorrectly spelled or recorded, or omitted (and some things do occur in these listings regardless of all the care that is taken to prevent them), we hope you will overlook the errors. Goshen tries to keep a careful record because it so deeply appreciates the support of its many alumni and friends. If your name does not appear or is incorrectly recorded, we ask your forgiveness and request that you provide us with the correct information so that our records may be promptly corrected.

How to Join This Honor Roll

All you need to do is make a gift of any sort for the benefit of Goshen College. It may be in cash, by check, or in the form of securities, property, books, or objects of art. When the annual report for the 1970-71 academic year is published, your name will be listed (but not the amount of the gift) on the next Honor Roll.

Substantial gifts are essential to fulfill the many requirements of Goshen College, but also of great importance to GC is the increasing number of individual givers. Thus, every gift of any size or sort is deeply appreciated.

Women Grads of GC May Apply For Danforth Fellowships

The Danforth Foundation, of 222 South Central Avenue, St. Louis, Mo. 63105, announces the seventh competition for its Graduate Fellowships for Women. Women graduates of GC are eligible to apply.

The objective is to find and develop college and secondary school teachers among American women whose preparation for teaching has been postponed or interrupted for at least three continuous years. At the time of her application she may not be a full-time teacher or a full-time graduate student.

Women who hold bachelors' degrees from accredited U.S. colleges or universities may apply for the 35 new appointments made annually. They may or may not have begun graduate work; they may or may not have experience in teaching; they may propose a full- or part-time program at an accredited graduate school in the United States, leading to a master's or doctor's degree.

Appointment is for one year beginning Sept. 1, 1971, and is renewable annually provided the recipient remains in good academic standing and follows her original study plan. Maximum award for 1971-72 will be $3,000 plus tuition and fees, or, for heads of families, $4,000 plus tuition and fees.

A brochure and application materials are available from Director, Graduate Fellowships for Women, at the Foundation.

Regional Club Dates Set for '70-'71

A series of four alumni regional club meetings is set for early fall in Elkhart County. Ten clubs outside Indiana are expected to meet during the 1970-71 year.

Following last year's plans, alumni of Elkhart County and bordering counties will be invited to their choice of four regional club meetings, set for late September or early October. As the Newsletter goes to press, dates are not yet firm. The gatherings are planned for the Wakarusa-Nappanee area, Goshen-Benton-New Paris area, Elkhart, and the Middlebury-Millersburg-Shipshewana-Topeka area. Regardless of where alumni live in central Northern Indiana, they are invited to attend the meeting that suits them most conveniently.

Club meetings are usually held in the same month, year after year. Last year the clubs and months of meetings were:

Elkhart County	September
Western Pennsylvania	October
Northeastern Ohio	November
Florida	December
Puerto Rico	February
Rocky Mountain	March
Southwestern Ohio	April
Northwestern Ohio	April
Eastern Pennsylvania	May
Holmes County, Ohio	May
Chicago	June

The alumni office is ready to help arrange speakers and program and mail notices to alumni announcing the meetings.

Forty Meet for Chicago Club

Forty alumni of Greater Chicago met at Villa Sweden for dinner the evening of June 26 and to hear Dr. Carl Kreider, acting president of Goshen College, speak on "Mennonites in the 1970's: The Role of Goshen College."

In charge of arrangements were Don D. Reber '51, president of the regional club and chairman of the program, and Dr. Paul '57 and Barbara (Amstutz) '57 Hodel. The Hodels, along with the newly elected officers, Edwin B. '53 and Edith (Shank) '60 Herner, will plan next year's meeting.

Delbert Beckett, Taft, Calif., is counselor and head of student activities at Taft Union High School. He also taught English for 13 years. Delbert has his M.A. degree from Notre Dame in 1954 and studied pupil personnel at Fresno State College and did some graduate work at the University of Southern California. Active at Calvary Temple Assembly of God Church, Delbert is also a member of Community Concert Association. He and his wife, the former Iva Priest, have four children.

Hilda Bixler, Grand Terrace, Calif., received her M.S. in nursing in 1963 from UCLA and is now associate professor at Riverside City College, and this year is acting director of the nursing program. She was previously employed at Kings View Hospital, Reedley, Calif.; Wayne County Health Dept., Wooster, Ohio; Wooster Community Hospital, and Massillon City Hospital, Ohio. Hilda is a member of Riverside United Methodist Church and is vice-president of the local chapter of the Sierra Club, an organization devoted to conservation and beautification throughout America.

Mrs. John (Rebecca Troyer) Bixler, Iowa City, Iowa, taught in the Concord School District, Elkhart, Ind., after GC graduation and then worked in a nursery in Iowa City while in Voluntary Service. Since then Rebecca has been a homemaker, mother and active church worker. Her husband, John '52, teaches music to handicapped children. The Bixlers have four children.

Virgil J. Brenneman, Goshen, Ind., was graduated from Goshen College Biblical Seminary in 1952 and then was pastor of First Mennonite Church in Iowa City, Iowa, until 1959. Until 1962 he pastored the Waterford Mennonite Church, Goshen, then took a position as executive secretary of Mennonite Camping Association. During 1964 and 1965 Virgil was a Danforth Fellow at Boston University and in 1965 received a B.D. degree from GC and Associated Biblical Seminaries. He has also been, since 1959, executive secretary of Mennonite Student Services, a division of the Mennonite Board of Missions. Virgil's wife, who was Helen Good, attended GC as a part-time student and is now a homemaker and free-lance writer. The Brennemans have four children, Don, 19, Lois, 17, John, 15 and Becky, 14.

Purchasing Director for Schools Directs Methodist Church Choir

James T. Brownsberger, Elkhart, Ind., and his wife, Carol Sue, have four children. He is director of purchasing for the Elkhart School System and has also been a classroom teacher and in the school equipment business. For the past 18 years James has been director of music at St. Paul's Methodist Church, and is a past president of the Methodist Men's Club. He is also president-elect of the Elkhart Kiwanis Club. James did some graduate work at Notre Dame and is a member of the Indiana and National Association of School Business Officials.

Mrs. Vladimir (Sylvia Gross) Bubalo, Scottdale, Pa., is an artist-writer who lived in Chicago until this past spring. After GC days she worked in Washington, D.C., and Reedley, Calif., hospitals under MCC and then worked at the University of Chicago Hospital as a receptionist while she attended Chicago Art Institute. She also held a part-time job with First National Bank of Chicago. Sylvia started writing seriously in 1958, and continued her painting in a home studio. She has been active in neighborhood racial work and has used her home as a link with Chicago 1-W workers and other student groups. Sylvia's husband is an artist-designer at Mennonite Publishing House.

Roy Bucher, Doylestown, Pa., started a new position as pastor of Doylestown Mennonite Church. He had pastored two Illinois churches, Pleasant Hill, Peoria, and Metamora, before moving to Doylestown this past summer. Roy has his M.A. in theology from Winona Lake School of Theology and had some clinical training during summers in Indianapolis and Chicago. He served for six years as secretary of the Illinois Mennonite Conference and six years as a member of the conference ministerial committee. He also served six years on the board of trustees of Mennonite Hospital, Bloomington, Ill. Roy and his wife, Betty (Rupport), have three children, including Judy '69, a teacher.

Nursing Prof. Took Post-Master's Work at U. of Florida

Anna Mae Charles, Goshen, Ind., received her M.S. in nursing from Case Western Reserve University in 1954 and did part-time graduate work at the University of Florida in 1963-64. She teaches the surgical aspects of nursing to junior students on the GC campus two days a week and teaches at Elkhart General Hospital three days a week. Anna Mae is a member of the College Mennonite Church.

Marjorie Charles, Topeka, Kan., works for Blue Cross-Blue Shield in Topeka and attends Evangelical Covenant Church. She received her elementary teaching certificate from Washburn University, Topeka, and spent 2 1/2 years with Wycliffe Bible Translators in Mexico.

Dr. Peter R.C. Classen, Elkhart, Ind., has a private medical practice and is chief of staff at Elkhart General Hospital. He is also a member of the Concord Community School Board. Peter and his wife, Hulda (Loewen) '58, have four children.

Mrs. Willard (Hettie Conrad) Conrad, Hesston, Kan., has five children, including Cathy, who will be a junior at GC this fall. Hettie is active in church work, served as general superintendent of the Hesston Community Bible School this past year, and is president-elect of the College Ladies Fellowship. Willard '49 is a Hesston College teacher, and Hettie does some part-time work for the college.

Dr. Jerome H. Cripe, Peoria, Ill., has a B.S. in social service from Indiana University, his M.D. from George Washington U. School of Medicine and did his psychiatric residency at IU School of Medicine. He is in private practice of family and child psychiatry, but was on the staff and director of the Mental Health Clinic in Peoria. Jerome is active in the Peace Action Council, Bradley U. Student Foundation Board, Planned Parenthood, Project Concern, United World Federalist, Clergy and Lay Concerned About Vietnam Committee, N.A.A.C.P., A.C.L.U. and is a Democrat precinct committeeman. He and his wife, Janis, have three children.

Lois P. Davidson, Grantham, Pa., has been assistant librarian at Messiah College since 1965 — four years in readers' services and one year as cataloguer. She also served as missionary under the Brethren in Christ Church for nine years — six of them in Rhodesia and Zambia. Before and after her mission assignment, she chalked up four years of teaching experience in the public schools of Nappanee, Ind. She received the M.A. in library science from Indiana U. in 1965. She is attendance superintendent for the Grantham Brethren in Christ Sunday school.

School Teacher Now Working for Master's at Youngstown State

Mrs. Fedoro (Marjorie Lehman) DeTunno, Columbiana, Ohio, received her B.S. in education from Youngstown State in 1952 and is now working toward her master's there. She taught in East Palestine, Ohio, for 10 years and now teaches second grade in Columbiana. Marjorie also teaches in the kindergarten department of her Presbyterian Church. Her husband is a teacher and guidance counselor. They have two children.

Mrs. Orville H. (Virginia Nafziger) Doehrmann, Stryker, Ohio, studied at LaJunta Nursing School before attending GC. She worked in an Iowa City psychiatric center and then did private nursing for ten years. Virginia now does part-time work in a neighboring town medical center and is a homemaker with three sons. She is on the Zion Mennonite Church, Archbold, Ohio, Council and belongs to the local Child Conservation League. Virginia's husband is a businessman and farmer.

Mrs. Marvin B. (Gertrude Gassmann) Dress, Cleveland, Ohio, works part-time as a receptionist-switchboard operator at a nearby hospital and is involved with the work of Church of the Covenant (Presbyterian). She and her husband, a high school teacher, work for racial understanding and the brotherhood of nations. They have two children.

Delbert and Ruth (Landis) Erb, Bragado, Argentina, have lived in South America since January, 1952, first in Buenos Aires and since 1958, after a furlough for seminary study at GC, in Bragado. Delbert works under the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities and the Argentine national church. He has taught music in a Bible school and is now in charge of a chicken farm and hatchery and has pastoral responsibility for a small church in Mechita. Through the years Delbert has directed a community chorus, but this year is working with a children's chorus. He is also on the Committee for Cultural Activities in Bragado. Ruth and Delbert have three children, David and Patricia, in high school, and Miguel, in grade school. Patricia and Miguel are both piano students.

Sudan Interior Mission Teacher Helps with Craft Activities

Anna Fast, Miango, Nigeria, Africa, teaches missionary children at Kent Academy under the Sudan Interior Mission. She also teaches a Sunday school and works with the children during week end game and craft activity along with assisting in the teaching of Hausa reading and writing classes. Anna studied at Oregon College of Education, Monmouth, in 1956 and took courses at the College of Sequoia, Visalia, Calif., in 1958.

Dr. E. Lavern Gerig, Mishawaka, Ind., received his M.D. from the State University of Iowa in 1955 and did his surgery residency at Marion County General Hospital, Indianapolis. He is now in private medical practice in general surgery. Lavern is an elder at Kern Road Chapel and chairman of the board of managers of Hope Rescue Mission, South Bend. He and his wife, Luella (Albrecht '54), have three children.

Mrs. Claude (Thelma Long) Gibson, Goshen, Ind., has taught school in Ohio, and at Middlebury and Millersburg high schools in Indiana. From 1964 to 1966 she was supervisor of student teachers of English and foreign languages at GC. Thelma and her husband, Claude '54, are members of First English Lutheran Church and are active in its work. They have two children.

Orland Gingerich, Baden, Ontario, Canada, is a minister, businessman, writer, producer, and father of ten children. He earned his B.D. from Waterloo Lutheran Seminary and also studied at London Institute for Supervised Pastoral Education and at Ruel Howe Institute. Ordained a minister in 1951 and a bishop in 1954, Orland ministered at Steinman Mennonite Church for 15 years and is now conference minister for the Western Ontario Mennonite Conference. He also taught at Ontario Mennonite Bible Institute. Orland and his wife, Agnes (Roth), are in the cheese business, making and selling their own brand, Koch Kase, while Orland also is in the midst of writing a history of the Amish of Ontario, to be finished by 1972, the 150th anniversary of the Amish migration to Ontario. For this occasion Orland is working on a drama-musical production to be given at the anniversary celebration. The Gingerichs have ten children, the eldest, aged 20, and the youngest, aged three.

Gingerichs on Sabbatical from Harvard U. Next Year

Dr. and Mrs. Owen (Miriam Sensenig) Gingerich will spend this next year on a sabbatical while Owen prepares articles on "Kepler" for the Dictionary of Scientific Biography and "Astronomical Charts" for the Encyclopaedia Britannica. They hope to spend the spring semester at American University in Beirut, where they lived in 1955 to 1958. Owen has been astrophysicist at Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., and professor of astronomy and of the history of science at Harvard University. He received both his M.A. and Ph.D. in astronomy from Harvard. As a writer, Owen has had articles published in Astrophysical Journal, Scientific American, Physics Today and Atlantic Monthly. Both he and Miriam have been officers in the Mennonite Church congregation in Boston. They have three sons.

Mrs. Wayne (Ida Louise Sutter) Gingerich, Portland, Ore., is a bicycle enthusiast, a joy all her family participate in. The Gingerichs ride to and from church and work and last summer their son, Keith, rode from Vancouver, B.C., to Boston, and Ida and her husband drove to Boston to meet him. They visited GC enroute. Ida is an active church worker, involved in Sunday school, Bible school, church council and WMSA. She is also part-time secretary for her pastor and does the church printing. Her husband is a postman, and they also have a daughter, Janet. Both children are high school students.

Mrs. Walter (Lorene Nafziger) Good, Armington, Ill., took some part-time study at Illinois State U., Normal, and taught in a grade school until marriage and motherhood. Lorene and Walter '49 have four children, two attending GC in the fall. Lorene is WMSA secretary of home and special interests on a state level and works in other church and community activities. Her husband is a farmer.

Robert Gotwals, Souderton, Pa., is a partner in Gotwals, Inc., truckers of livestock and bulk cement, with offices in Souderton and Logansport, Ind. He is a member of the Blooming Glen Mennonite Church, where he is on the church council and a Sunday-school teacher of youth, a member of GC's Board of Overseers, Rotary, and health and welfare committee of Mennonite Board of Missions. He is married to the former Lucille Yoder '52; they have three children — Susan will be a freshman at GC this fall.

Active Church and Community Worker Enjoys Outdoors

Mrs. Peter (Mary Lou Jessup) Grafton, Bellevue, Wash., was graduated from St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing and then worked in the hospital's psychiatric ward. She also nursed at Elkhart General Hospital and at Firland T.B. Sanitarium in Seattle. Mary Lou is now busy with church activity, serving on her United Church of Christ Consistory and in the Women's Fellowship, and in community work as volunteer co-ordinator for Family Counseling Agency, and chairman of the advisory committee for Family Counseling. She was secretary of Citizens Social Service Committee, a group which surveyed the community to find needs and helped start new programs, such as "Heads Up," a drop-in center for troubled teen-agers. The Grafton children are Ginny, a sophomore at the University of Washington, Fred, in junior high school, and Scott, a fourth grader. Mr. Grafton is an executive with Boeing Aircraft Co. The entire family enjoy outdoor camping, water sports and Lake Washington.

Mrs. Leo (Mary E. Fox) Grant, New Holland, Pa., has been a public school teacher for 22 years, teaching in Montgomery County, Pa., and now in the fifth grade in Cocalico School District, Lancaster County, Pa. She received her master's from Temple University, Philadelphia, in 1957, and has done other graduate work. Mary is a member of New Holland Lutheran Church.

John L. Grasse, Calico Rock, Ark., is administrator of the Calico Rock Medical Center. He worked for the center from 1952 until 1968 when he served as a medical technician at Doctors Hospital, Sarasota, Fla., and studied management training at Manatee College. He became the center's administrator just last year. John belongs to the Calico Rock Fellowship where he is on the church council and teaches Sunday school, is a member of the Lions Club and chairman of the Housing Authority. He and his wife, Mary Margaret (Miller '49), have three children.

Vocal Music Director Is Also President of Town Board

James K. Greiner, North Webster, Ind., is director of vocal music at North Side Junior High School, Elkhart, Ind., and is serving his sixth year as president of the Town Board of Trustees of North Webster. He also has been director of music at First United Methodist Church in Warsaw, Ind. James received his master of music education from Vandercook College of Music, Chicago, in 1963. He has been in the business world, working as director of training and personnel for Lyall Electric Inc., Albion, Ind., and also has held

Hostetler Resigns Association Post

John J. Hostetler, elected president-elect of the Alumni Association by its members in spring, 1969, has resigned to pursue a heavy load of studies leading to the doctorate at Purdue University.

The executive board of the Association accepted his resignation at the June 20 business meeting and asked the nominating committee — Esther (Hartzler) Oyer '43, Gordon R. Yoder '51 and Phyllis (Yoder) Yoder '57 — to nominate a person to the executive board to fulfill the remaining year of Hostetler's term as president-elect.

The nominee will then serve a two-year term as president and a two-year term as past president.

The board congratulated Hostetler on his ambitious program, which includes a heavy load of doctoral studies at the Fort Wayne extension of Purdue University in addition to a full-time job during 1970-71. In 1971-72 he and his wife, Mary Edna (Derstine) '50, and two daughters, will move to the Purdue University campus to complete the doctoral program.

The nominating committee plans to complete its work so that the new president-elect may take office at the September 26 meeting of the executive board.

music director positions at Goshen High School and North Webster High. He is a past president of the Lions Club. The Greiners, she was Mary Jean Yoder, have three children.

Mrs. Melvin (Clara Esch) Headrick, LaJunta, Colo., is a housewife and mother of six daughters but still finds time for some part-time nursing in the OB ward of her local hospital. Clara received her R.N. from LaJunta Mennonite School of Nursing. She is active in Sunday school and WMSA affairs and also in PTA and other school programs. Melvin '47 is a farmer.

Mrs. Franklyn (Esther Bixler) Heatwole, LaJunta, Colo., was graduated from LaJunta Mennonite School of Nursing in 1953 and now works two days a week as relief head nurse on obstetrics at LaJunta Medical Center. She also did nursing at Pioneers Memorial Hospital of Rocky Ford, Colo. Esther is a member of Rocky Ford Mennonite Church where she is Sunday-school superintendent in the children's department and is district secretary of literature for the Rocky Mountain Conference of the WMSA. The Heatwoles have four sons, aged 16, 15, 11 and 8. Mr. Heatwole is a farmer.

Mrs. Harold (Betty D. Moyer) Hershey, Souderton, Pa., earned her R.N. from Grand View Hospital, Sellersville, Pa., in 1952, and now works as a part-time night nurse at North Penn Hospital, Lansdale, Pa. She attends Blooming Glen Mennonite Church where she is secretary of the primary Sunday-school department and is a teacher. Betty also assists her husband, who is in mutual funds, with his role of vice-president of their PTA. The Hersheys have four children.

Homemaker Was on Panel with Editors of Time and Life

Mrs. Dale (Lucile Conrad) Hochstetler, Hesston, Kan., was recently on a panel interviewed by the editors of Time and Life magazines. Lucile is president of the Hesston Women's Civic Club and is a Search group leader for Hesston College students. She assists her husband, Dale, in the ownership of Hesston Mill. They have four children.

Clinton E. Hofstetter, Reading, Pa., is plant methods engineer for the Prestolite Co., division of ELTRA Corporation Battery Division. He previously worked for the Flexible Co., Loudenville, Ohio.

C. Jay Holaway, Goshen, Ind., was an elementary school teacher after GC days until 1961, when he received his M.S. in education from Indiana University, and became guidance director at Concord Community Schools. He and his wife, Lou (Smith), have three sons and are members of Eighth Street Mennonite Church. This year Jay is president of the board of directors of Maplecrest Country Club.

Kenneth A. Holderman, Elkhart, Ind., is an elementary school teacher, active in Church Community Services and chairman of service and extension of his church. His wife, the former Evelyn Plank '66, also teaches school. They have three children.

Dr. George W. Horst, Glenwood Springs, Colo., studied at Hahnemann Medical School, Philadelphia, earning his M.D. in 1955 and then interned at Akron, Ohio, General Hospital. During 1956 through 1958 he was in Voluntary Service at Grants, N.M., working with Navajo migrant workers. George then went into general practice at Glenwood Springs Medical Associates until 1965 when he did his residency in pediatrics at the University of Colorado Medical Center. He is now with Glenwood Medical Associates as a pediatrician. George is an elder of Glenwood Springs Mennonite Church, a member of Valley View Hospital staff and on the board of directors of Glenwood Springs Community Concerts. The Horsts, she was Beulah Troyer '52, have five children.

Ken is a six year member of the Dakota School Board and is active at Freeport Mennonite Church, where he has served with Doris as MYF sponsors for ten years. The Shoemakers have three children.

Businessman Jennings '41 Is Greencroft Board Chairman

After completing his freshman year at the University of Tennessee, John Jennings came to Goshen College in 1938 at the age of 19. His home was in Concord, Tenn., where he was the youngest of 11 children. His father, William Jennings, was a Mennonite bishop in Virginia Conference.

When he came to Goshen, "there couldn't have been a more backward, scared individual." However, he was a "typical" student — he "griped about the food" and "was satisfied with a C and a good time." Still, Goshen College was a positive experience and now, he particularly appreciates the counsel and guidance he received from the then President S.C. Yoder. While at Goshen, he met Polly Blosser from Leetonia, Ohio, and was later married to her. She "in her own quiet way has been a terrific influence" on his life, he says.

Before completing his junior year in 1950, Jennings quit school because of a lack of funds, and began his business career by selling Hostess Cakes for Continental Baking Corporation. This job was interrupted by the draft in 1942. After discharge from CPS in 1946, he was employed by Mutual Security Life Insurance Company as agency supervisor. In 1954 he resigned to set up his own insurance agency as district agent for this company in Goshen. Today, representing several companies, he handles insurance for corporations and individuals.

The Jennings' have three daughters. Marilyn, a graduate of Ball State U., taught kindergarten and is married; Elaine, who was graduated from Goshen College in 1969, teaches art and is married. Vicki is a junior sociology student at Purdue U. The Jennings' have two grandsons.

One project that has meant much to Jennings is Greencroft, a villa for senior citizens in Goshen, begun in 1958 and organized in 1962. Jennings, who is chairman of the board (appointed by Mennonite Board of Missions), values the experience because it is "a vehicle to do something worthwhile in the community" and because he is able to work with board members and other community persons for whom he has great admiration.

Florida Speech Therapist Is Active in Nazarene Church

Mrs. Norman (Doris Hansen) Smith, Orlando, Fla., is a speech therapist, having earned her M.A. in education with a major in speech therapy at Ball State University in 1963. John's Jottings

By John L. Frankenfield, Director of Alumni Relations and Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association

"The goal of Goshen College will be to serve each student and give him the preparation he needs to realize his maximum potential. We will provide preparation necessary for the 'new professionals' — the new breed of lawyers, doctors, teachers, psychologists, ministers, social workers, nurses — or similar practitioners — who bring together the knowledge and power of the profession, with the idealism, vision, and enthusiasm of youth." So spoke Dr. J. Lawrence Burkholder, president-elect, to the Board of Overseers.

He continued, "Goshen College will offer all students the opportunity to rise above the average in Christian life and experience. 'Radical discipleship' is the carrying out of the New Testament command to be 'tentmaking ministers.'"

There is no confusion that Goshen College is a great cause. And a great cause bespeaks a great response. Some folks think if they can't send a lot, they needn't send anything. Tut! We're not proud. If you can't pay for the endowment of a chair, we'll gladly let you in on part of a prof's salary, or several profs' salaries.

I know you will do what you can in '70-'71.

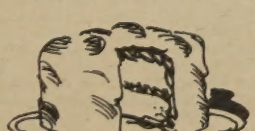
GOSHEN COLLEGE BULLETIN
Vol. LXIV, No. 6.
August, 1970



Have your cake . . . and eat it too.

By giving, you continue to receive.

Let's say you enter into a Charitable Gift Annuity agreement with Goshen College. Most important, your gift will help Goshen College continue to prepare young men and women for lives of usefulness.

But you learn that by giving you receive. First, you are guaranteed an income for the rest of your life. For example, if your annuity is for yourself only, and:

Your age is	Your rate of return is
72	6.0 per cent
75	6.5 per cent
78	7.1 per cent
81	7.7 per cent
84	8.0 per cent

Second, you pay income taxes on only part of that income.

You even receive more than that. If the gift money were in your savings account instead of a Charitable Gift Annuity, you would receive less than the published rate of return on your principle. Why? Because you must pay income tax on bank interest. That's another way your spendable income can increase by entering into a Charitable Gift Annuity Agreement.

Your annuity also gives you generous tax deductions the first year. And that means more real income for you that year.

For more information and a copy of the table of annuity rates, write to Heritage. . . Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana 46526.

The Reconciling Person

1970 Baccalaureate Sermon of Dr. Paul Mininger

Members of the graduating class, parents of the graduates, and friends of Goshen College.

The 1970 graduating class is a part of the generation of college students who have been described by a variety of labels. One is the "alienated generation," because today many young persons, including students and college graduates, have an uneasy feeling of alienation. Often this experience has resulted in hostility and conflict — with adults and with the institutions in society. Furthermore, alienation and conflict have frequently been accompanied by a hopelessness regarding the future.

These three characteristics which describe many youth today might also describe modern man. He, too, is alienated from his fellows, is characterized by hostility and by an absence of hope. But not only does alienation describe modern man, it also is the picture of man in the biblical perspective. Now, as then, man is alienated from God, from his better self, from his fellow man. He is characterized by hardness of heart. With this alienation goes hostility — toward God, toward one's self, and toward one's fellow men.

But the biblical message is also the Gospel, which is a message of reconciliation. It has the power to resolve alienation and conflict and create hope. It has the power to bring men and God together and men and men together. It has the power to overcome hostility and hopelessness and make unity and peace possible.

The Wronged and the Wrongdoer

What takes place when two persons, or two groups of persons, who have lived as friends, experience a major conflict? They had lived together in faith and confidence. They had shared a common life with trust, concern, common goals, satisfaction, unity, peace, and joy. But, now, one person feels he has been wronged by the other. He feels his rights have been violated. His friend has cheated him, perhaps lied against him, trespassed on the trust that had been between them. As a result, separation begins.

The person who has been wronged reflects on the injury, is resentful, and finally becomes estranged. He magnifies the offense. Alienation and resentment are inflamed to hatred. Communication breaks down. Gradually he begins to strike back because he seeks to hurt the wrongdoer.

In the meantime, something is also happening to the wrongdoer. At first he is uneasy because he has wronged his friend. He feels anxious and guilty, and his feelings are accentuated by his friend's response. He begins to make excuses for himself. He rationalizes his wrongdoing. He even convinces himself he was right and becomes self-righteous about what he has done. In his own mind he may even convert the person who was wronged into the wrongdoer, and he becomes the defender of the right. Now the alienation leads into anger, hostility, and destruction, and this is the beginning of social conflict.

Man in this condition cannot really perceive his true self. He has a distorted view of reality. His neighbor who was earlier a brother has now become the enemy.

But the Gospel has a message to men in this situation. In Jesus Christ there has come into the world a Person who is the Reconciler. In Christ, God's spirit is operating to create and restore.

The Reconciling Person

My text is II Corinthians 5:17-19: "For if a man is in Christ he becomes a new person altogether — past is finished and gone, everything has become fresh and new. All this is God's doing, for He has reconciled us to Himself through Jesus Christ; and He has made us agents of reconciliation. God was in Christ personally — reconciling the world to Himself — not counting their sins against them — and has commissioned us with the message of reconciliation." (From The New Testament in Modern English copyright by J. B. Phillips, 1958. Used by permission of The Macmillan Company and Geoffrey Bles, Ltd.).

The reconciling Jesus Christ, the reconciling Person, comes with one message. This message, very simply, is that God loves the sinner.

This means, my friends, your life as a human being has absolute value in the eyes of God. This is the Gospel to modern man. It is on the same theme of what an international student from the Far East told me several years ago: that one of the important things that she learned here was that human life is of infinite value.

There is a danger in our forgetting that. We need to remember this is a part of the meaning of the Gospel. But, it also means when Jesus says that God loves the sinner, no man, no matter who he is nor what his circumstances are, need ever reach the point where trust in God becomes impossible. And this message of the Gospel means that no man need ever despair of the forgiveness of God. That is what we call the grace of God. No matter how much one may have violated the norms of society, or the law of God — no matter how much he may have rejected God's love — God forgives. And God restores.

God wills to bring us into fellowship with Himself. His call to us is always to repent and accept His forgiveness and love. He will free us from our self-concern and self-centeredness, and will give us His Spirit. We will then become reconciling persons. This is the Gospel of promise.

Because of his devotion to Jesus' teachings and way of reconciliation, Dirk Willems (d. 1569) was hotly pursued across thin ice by a thief-catcher, who broke through and was in danger of losing his life. In an act of genuine love, Willems, who could have escaped, quickly returned and aided his pursuer in getting out and thereby saved his life. But Willems was imprisoned and then burned at the stake.

Your Brother Has Infinite Value

God is saying He not only loves you, but He also loves your neighbor. He loves your brother. He also loves your enemy. Each of them is of ultimate value. The Gospel of promise means something else as well: no man, whether your neighbor, friend, or enemy, is beyond the limit of your love or your forgiveness. This is not the simple Gospel because it is complicated, but this is the pure Gospel.

In the strategy of reconciliation God not only sent Christ, but He also sent you and me into the world to become reconciling persons. Christ has created exemplars of reconciliation, new men from whom the influence of reconciliation flows out, rather than the influence of alienation. To be a reconciling person, you must begin by being reconciled to God, through Christ. It is then that we receive the power and the spirit to be reconciling persons.

The Wronged, the Wrongdoer, And the Reconciling Person

Earlier I spoke of two friends, separated and alienated. How does the one who has been wronged respond if he is a reconciling person? First, he seeks to restore the broken fellowship. He identifies himself with the wrongdoer. He sees him through the eyes of Christ and sees in him what he might become in Christ. He sees his potentialities.

By identifying with him, he is willing to undergo the consequences of the other person's wrongdoing. This is the way of the cross: he is ready to absorb the hostilities and injustices that may come. He takes the initiative in seeking to restore communication.

In doing this, something may happen. There is no guarantee of what will happen. There is no sure-fire method to make something happen. But, this is the strategy of reconciliation of the Gospel.

One possible consequence is that the wrongdoer will begin to perceive in a new way the person he has wronged. He begins for the first time to understand something about the meaning of forgiving love. In the presence of this love he may be able to reassess himself. Rather than be defensive in the presence of the love and forgiveness of his friend, he may begin to see that he has been wrong. He may be inspired to a genuine repentance and a new faith, and find the beginning of a new life.

There are also consequences for the one who has been wronged. He is undergoing the meaning of the sufferings of God and of Christ. And, for the spectators who are looking on, they are observing the drama of forgiveness. They begin to see the meaning of God's love and the way of reconciliation in human relations.

The drama can become even more complex, for the reconciling person is himself also going to do wrong at times. He will not always be the one who is wronged. Since he is living under grace, he accepts responsibility for his actions. He repents of his wrongdoing and seeks the forgiveness of his former friend and of God. The results are reconciliation and restoration between man and man, and between man and God.

The Reconciling Person and The Structures of Society

There will also be times when the reconciling person observes someone who has been wronged. Can he merely look on and read the newspaper about what is happening and then yawn and go back to his work the next day? No, the reconciling person must identify with the person who has done the wrong.

Jesus Christ called for help for the captive, the poor, the prisoner, the stranger, the sorrowing, the despised, the neglected, the outcast, the forgotten, the lonely, the angry, the blind, the brokenhearted, the bruised, the oppressed, the slave, the fearful, those possessed with demons, the hungry, the sick, the children, the orphans, the widows, the aged, the exploited — all of these. Jesus came and identified with all of them. He ministered to their needs. He sought to correct the problems. He brought reconciliation to them.

The reconciling person has a specific role when he observes one doing wrong to another. He sees the person doing the wrong; he sees the man who is really the cause of all this. The message of the Gospel is clear: the reconciling person goes to the oppressor, identifies with him, witnesses to God's righteousness, His love, and His grace. He calls him to repentance without self-righteousness, without threat, without violence. He speaks the truth in love because the purpose here is not merely to communicate words — that is easy — but somehow to transmit meaning and power. This can take place only in the context of concern, love, and grace.

The reconciling person also responds to wrongs that are due in part to what we have come to call the structures of society. He, as each of us, is a part of our social order, and he, as each of us, is part of a group within that order and takes part in the system. The problem is not only the individual's selfishness, but individual selfishness organized into a system.

Here, again, the reconciling person begins with repentance. Then he moves to work at changing the system, but with goals and methods consistent with his basic commitment of grace and love. He does not lay aside the strategy of Jesus Christ. Rather, he begins to work with those customs and certain ways of operation within the economic, the political, or the social order, in a way commensurate with the life of grace and the life of love. He works toward bringing together groups which are separated. He speaks the truth in love. He suffers rather than causes suffering. He seeks to solve the problem rather than be a part of the problem. He uses persuasion and witness. He believes in the power of love rather than recourse to violence.

How to Find a Gracious Neighbor

In the time of the Apostle Paul and in the time of Luther, one of the great issues that was stirring in the minds of men was how to find a gracious God. In our world the issue is not how to find a gracious God; rather, it is how to find a gracious neighbor. Or, how to find a gracious reformer. Or, how and where to find a gracious revolutionary. The reconciling person is just such a person, who loves because he has first been loved.

The reconciling person does not operate alone; he is always a part of a reconciling community, the fellowship of reconciliation, the church. It is within this church that he renews his loyalty to Christ. He brings his own life under the scrutiny of Christ and his brethren. Here is the place of all places, my friends, where reconciliation should be practiced. Here is where the structures of society ought to be examined, the needs of men faced, and the strategy of reconciliation determined.

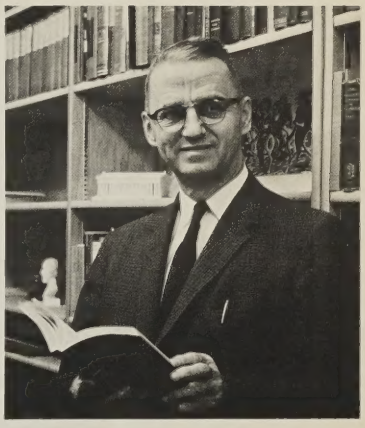
Finally, the reconciling person looks three ways. First, he looks to God who has come in Christ and from Him he realizes the power of his own reconciliation. He lives by the miracle of forgiveness of his own sin and of the new life that is communicated through living with the Living Christ, on whom he must have his attention focused.

Second, he looks beyond himself to a broken world, to broken man, to a broken society, for it is here that his mission lies. It is here where he is to live, work, suffer, and reconcile. The Great Commission is really, "Go love, go, and reconcile."

Third, he looks to his brother. He needs his brother. He joins hands with his brother that they might together engage in this task of reconciliation.

This, then, graduates of Goshen College, is your task. Having been reconciled to God through Christ, you have become agents of reconciliation, and have become a part of the fellowship of reconciliation. Go forth in these difficult and needy times to be truly reconciling persons destroying alienation and hostility but creating peace and hope.

Samuel A. Yoder, 1906-1970



Dr. Samuel A. Yoder, 64, professor of English at Goshen College for 28 years, died unexpectedly of a stroke early Sunday afternoon, July 26, at Goshen General Hospital. He had become ill while teaching the Berean Sunday-school class at the College Mennonite Church that morning.

Prof. Yoder's life was one of deep devotion to the church and to Jesus Christ. An article published in a 1968 issue of the Bulletin probably expressed best his creed for a Christian professor:

"When a professor is competent in his field and articulate in communication and, along with these attributes, has found Christian faith, it will be communicated in a thousand and one ways, often unconsciously. Perhaps it is in the humility and the integrity with which he gives his lectures, or in the kindness and sincerity with which he fields classroom questions, or in the patience with which he conducts student interviews. The big problem is to be sure one has vital faith in God, and not worry too much about whether or not it is communicated; for if one has it, it will be communicated! The Christian professor need not be afraid to investigate anything, but he must do it with honesty, candor, and humility. He must avoid bigotry, superciliousness, and conceit.

"The excitement of being a part of an academic environment, motivated by investigative curiosity and Christian faith, can be one of the most rewarding experiences in the world."

A student at Goshen College in the late 1920's, he was an early winner in the competition that is today known as the Intercollegiate Peace Speech Contest. As a young teacher at the College, 1930-35, Prof. Yoder was the first superintendent of the Sunday school that was begun by students and faculty in North Goshen, the forerunner of the current North Goshen Mennonite Church with a current membership of 366. An author, he wrote "Middle East Sojourn" about his work and travels in that part of the world, 1944-45; he also wrote numerous articles and reports for church periodicals and professional journals. He was editor of the Goshen College "News-Letter" for alumni from 1952 through 1954.

He willingly served as a judge of many speech contests at the college and was in demand as a public speaker and addressed church groups and congregations throughout Indiana, the Midwest, and eastern states, and various clubs. He spoke at numerous Christian workers' conferences and taught Sunday-school classes regularly for many years.

A native of Middlebury, Ind., he was a lifelong resident of Elkhart County except for occasional periods of teaching and service in other states and abroad. He was graduated from Goshen College with the A.B. degree in 1928, from Harvard University with the M.A. in 1929, and from Indiana University with the Ph.D. in 1937. He had also studied at Manchester College and the University of Michigan. He was a member of the Modern Language Association and the National Council of Teachers of English.

After receiving his doctorate, he taught at Wheaton College from 1937 to 1944, then accepted the post of welfare officer under the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Agency in Egypt, 1944-45. In 1945 he accepted a short-term post with Mennonite Central Committee in Ethiopia.

He returned to the Goshen College faculty in 1946, and taught English, and for 22 years was chairman of the division of language, literature, and fine arts, and chairman of the English department. Along with a number of survey courses of literature, he taught courses in Milton and Shakespeare for many years. He was active with and an encouragement to the international students at the College.

During overseas teaching assignments he was Fulbright Lecturer at Anatolia College, of Greece, 1955-56; Smith-Mundt Lecturer at the University of Hue, of Vietnam, 1962-63; professor at Taiwan University, of Formosa, summer, 1963; and leader of the Study-Service Trimester abroad in Jamaica, 1968-69. He was eligible for a sabbatical leave of absence, 1970-71.

Prof. Yoder was born March 25, 1906, to Sylvanus and Susan (Troyer) Yoder. He became a Christian and joined the Clinton Frame Mennonite Church at an early age. He was married to the former Ethel Oyer, of Eureka, Ill., on Sept. 10, 1932, who survives. Also surviving are two brothers, two sisters, two daughters, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the College Mennonite Church on July 30 with John H. Mosemann officiating. Burial was in Violett Cemetery.

Students Come Alive to Help Others Live

Prof. S. David Garber, Study-Service Trimester leader in Jamaica 1969-70, writes:

"Jamaica is a land of contrasts. It has an old history but only recent independence. The island is small; rich and poor live side by side. The economy is developing rapidly but hindered somewhat by attitudes and patterns of life inherited from days of slavery and colonialism. Many are unemployed and are not yet trained for the new job opportunities.

"There is special need for more teachers and workers in the social services. The young must be prepared to make something of themselves and build a new nation where there are food, health, homes, and happiness. Helping to teach a young child or a teenage dropout to read and reckon and work with others is a crucially important task. The Jamaica SST-ers joined in such projects, cared for the sick and for those hungry — physically, mentally, socially, and spiritually. Doers like these, Jesus said, belong to God's kingdom, which offers the blessings of life and health to all the peoples of this world."

Miss Margaret Swartz, a junior from Premont, Texas, described her unsalaried service in Jamaica last summer:

"I spent six weeks working as an aid on the children's ward at St. James Hospital in Montego Bay. This was the first time I had worked with children and the first time I had worked in a hospital. My experiences there have taught me a lot and helped me to grow up a little more.

"The pictures of malnourished children that missionaries often show have always touched some chord of response in me. But now I have seen the same conditions for myself. Anthony's body was covered with the characteristic flaky skin of kwashiorkor (a disease caused by a protein-deficient diet); Kelvin's skin hung in loose, dry folds like an older person's; Angella was apathetic and unresponsive. And Michael died.

"The medical report said Michael died of malnutrition, Jennifer of gastroenteritis, and Baby Williams of tetanus. But the real cause was ignorance. Sylvester was admitted for the fifth time in a year and a half for the same thing. It was very frustrating to see the children die from ignorance and not be able to do anything. What I have seen and experienced in my six weeks of work has made me more sure of my ambition to be a doctor. For the first time, I have seen what happens when there is a shortage of doctors and nurses. I now know with a surety that I must do what I can to fulfill this need."

Miss Julie Byler, a sophomore from Belleville, Pa., worked at Savanna-la-Mar Hospital. She offers:

"The first three weeks I worked on the pediatrics ward where I saw many malnutrition cases. I loved the kids! Next I worked on the surgical ward and last on the maternity ward — my favorite — where I saw a lot of deliveries. I learned so much at Savanna-la-Mar. I put in a lot of long hours of work, but every minute was worth it. SST has been a fabulous experience."

Ray Hunsberger, a junior from Goshen, Ind., reports:

"For my service project, I worked as a counselor round director at Cobbla Youth Camp. (A round has 100 boys.) Cobbla is one of the three youth camps set up in Jamaica to give training to boys between the ages of 15 and 19.

"The boys spend 18 weeks in camp. The first six weeks are spent on the farm. The remaining time they spend in the trade of their choice and also are taught English and math. My job consisted mainly of being available to talk with the boys whenever they wanted to. I met with them each night and talked about their problems."

Miss Jean Flueckiger, a junior from Berne, Ind., discusses her service assignment:

"I taught a third grade class at an elementary school. I was fortunate to have four walls around my classroom. The school was noisy and loud because most of the classrooms were not self-contained. I had to learn to teach with all the noise and confusion. Sometimes it was quite difficult. I had to shout just to get their attention.

"In my room there were 38 children. They were crowded — three to a desk which was about a yard long. Because there were so very few audio-visual aids or teaching helps, most of the teaching was done by lecture. Many assignments were put on the board because the students could never find their books. We had a piano in my room which meant that all the choirs came to my room to practice. I played for some of them and enjoyed it very much."

Miss Ruth Becker, a junior from McMinnville, Ore., helped at the School of Home Economics in the little country town of Lucea. She sums up her experience:

"It's been a real challenge to be able to contribute, even slightly, to a program like this. I've learned how it feels to see a student's smile when she finally comprehends something new, and I've realized again how worthwhile teaching can be, especially after reading letters from former students — they've finally been able to get a job, support themselves, and sometimes even support their families."

Steven and Linda Steury, seniors from Berne, Ind., worked at Operation Friendship, an infant school for 4- to 6-year-olds in West Kingston, a slum area of the capital. They comment:

"The children showed a deep need for love and attention, because their lives were patterned by a roughness and indifference bred where life seems cheap. They were children wise in street knowledge: how to fight, run, and throw stones, and how to defend themselves. Their independence was not conducive to cooperative classroom efforts, but they were creative and able to learn quickly when they wanted to.

"Our service was filled with discouragements and disillusionments at times, but we see worthwhile changes in ourselves and the children. Some children developed some self-confidence in themselves as loved and respected individuals, where it was sorely needed."

Seventeen high school graduates have won Menno Simons Scholarships for study at Goshen College and have enrolled as freshmen this fall.

The scholars are eligible for substantial awards. The amount of the stipend can range from $250 a year to $800 a year each for four college years, depending on need. The Menno Simons program is only one part of a much larger financial aid program to make it possible for students to go to Goshen.

This year's winners came from six states and brought the total number of Menno Simons Scholars since the program's beginning in 1956 to 154. Among former Scholars are college professors, medical doctors, social workers, ministers, and registered nurses. Equally impressive vocations and professions were chosen by the others.

The scholarships are named in remembrance of Menno Simons, an early leader of the Mennonite Church. The recipients were chosen on the basis of high school record, character, contributions to church and community life, and performance on the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

Those who received awards were:

1. David Benjamin Cutrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cutrell, of R. 1, Scottdale, Pa. He is a graduate of Southmoreland High School and a member of the Scottdale Mennonite Church.

2. Donald Ray Ebersole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ebersole, of 319 W. Holland St., Archbold, Ohio. He is a graduate of Archbold High School and a member of Zion Mennonite Church.

3. Steven Lee Garboden, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Garboden, of R. 1, Geneva, Ind. He is a graduate of South Adams High School and a member of the First Mennonite Church of Berne.

4. John Stephen Gerig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Gerig, of 809 Emerson St., Morton, Ill. He is a graduate of Morton Township High School and a member of the First Mennonite Church of Morton.

5. Miss Susan Marie Gotwals, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gotwals, of Souderton, Pa. She is a graduate of Christopher Dock Mennonite High School and a member of the Blooming Glen Mennonite Church.

6. Jeffrey Gene Gundy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gundy, of R. 2, Flanagan, Ill. He is a graduate of Flanagan High School and a member of the Waldo Mennonite Church. He was a National Merit finalist.

7. Robert Lynn Harnish, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harnish, Sr., of 130 Canterbury Ct., East Peoria, Ill. He is a graduate of East Peoria Community High School and a member of Highway Village Mennonite Church.

8. Miss Judith Ann Hartzler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Ellwyn Hartzler, of 202 W. Washington, Pandora, Ohio. She is a graduate of Pandora-Gilboa High School and a member of Grace Mennonite Church.

9. Steven Paul Hooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hooley, of R. 2, West Liberty, Ohio. He is a graduate of West Liberty-Salem High School and a member of South Union Mennonite Church. He was a National Merit finalist.

10. Keith David Kauffmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kauffmann, of R. 1, Minier, Ill. He is a graduate of Stanford-Minier High School and a member of the Hopedale Mennonite Church. He was a National Merit finalist.

11. David Conroy Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keller, of 2539 West Chanticlur, Anaheim, Calif. He is a graduate of Magnolia High School and a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Anaheim.

12. Paul DeVon Leichty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leichty, of 2118 East Hawthorne Dr., Elkhart, Ind. He is a graduate of Elkhart High School and a member of Prairie Street Mennonite Church.

13. Virgil Duane Troyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Troyer, of R. 2, Shreve, Ohio. He is a graduate of Central Christian High School and a member of Moorehead Mennonite Church, of West Salem.

14. Miss Rachel Lynn Wiebe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Wiebe, of 1001 East Market, Nappanee, Ind. She is a graduate of NorthWood High School and a former member of Salem Mennonite Church, of Freeman, S.D. She was a National Merit finalist.

15. Alan Gail Yoder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Yoder, of R. 1, Scottdale, Pa. He is a graduate of Southmoreland High School and a member of Kingview Mennonite Church.

16. Miss Christine Frances Yost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Yost, of 7991 Wolff Ct., Westminster, Colo. She is a graduate of Westminster High School and a member of the First Mennonite Church of Denver.

17. Miss Judy Elaine Zimmerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester J. Zimmerman, of 120 Woodlawn Dr., Goshen, Ind. She is a graduate of Bethany Christian High School and a member of the College Mennonite Church.

You can have your cake . . . and eat it too.

By giving, you can continue to receive.

Let's say you enter into a Charitable Gift Annuity agreement with Goshen College. Most important, your gift will help Goshen College continue to prepare young men and women for lives of usefulness.

But you learn that by giving you receive. First, you are guaranteed an income for the rest of your life. For example, if your annuity is for yourself only, and:

Your age is	Your rate of return is
72	6.0 per cent
75	6.5 per cent
78	7.1 per cent
81	7.7 per cent
84	8.0 per cent

Second, you pay income taxes on only part of that income.

You even receive more than that. If the gift money were in your savings account instead of a Charitable Gift Annuity, you would receive less than the published rate of return on your principle. Why? Because you must pay income tax on bank interest. That's another way your spendable income can increase by entering into a Charitable Gift Annuity Agreement.

Your annuity also gives you generous tax deductions the first year. And that means more real income for you that year.

For more information and a copy of the table of annuity rates, write to Heritage . . . Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana 46526.

IN THE GALLERY: GC FACULTY SHOW

New to the art department this year is Marvin Bartel, from Northeast Missouri State College. He has recently completed work for a doctorate in art education at the U. of Kansas. He has been concentrating in ceramics for the past number of years.

Alta Hertzler, who teaches textile design, will exhibit work in printed and dyed techniques, some of which was done at Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts last summer.

Abner Hershberger, on leave last year at the U. of Michigan, will exhibit metal and fiberglass sculpture plus a number of serigraph prints. Much of his work to be displayed was part of a thesis project required for the M.F.A. degree.

Hostetter to Launch '71 Annual Fund

Dr. Abram M. Hostetter '53, psychiatrist and medical director of Philhaven Hospital, is the national chairman of the 1971 Alumni Fund.

The announcement was made at the executive committee board meeting on September 26.

Widely respected in the American Psychiatric Association and the Pennsylvania Psychiatric Society, Dr. Hostetter practiced privately in Harrisburg 1961-69 and continues his affiliations as consulting psychiatrist at Hershey Hospital and consulting psychiatrist at Lebanon County Public Schools. He has also counseled seminarians and pastors by serving the Lutheran Theological Seminary and the Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church of America. He is a member of the American Medical Association and the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

Active in the Faith United Presbyterian Church, of Harrisburg, Dr. Hostetter is a ruling elder and has been an assistant in its annual pledge drive.

Mrs. Hostetter is the former Patricia Ann Lerch '52, a speech therapist with a master's degree from Western Reserve. The Hostetters have three sons and a daughter, ranging in age from 8 to 3. They live on Rural Route 1, Annville, Pa.

Alumni Annual Giving Is Of Growing Significance

Last year Goshen received $100,750.15 from alumni--an accomplishment ultimately possible only because of their generosity.

Goshen seeks to maintain, even exceed, this high level of support in the years ahead. There is much that commends Goshen to this task:

*Under the leadership of Dr. J. Lawrence Burkholder, Goshen College is about to enter a new period of serious dedication to Christ and to all that He means in the 20th century.

*New efforts are being made at Goshen to make sure that every student is respected and loved as a person, and that he confronts personally the will of God for his life.

Alumni Annual Giving Is Of Growing Significance

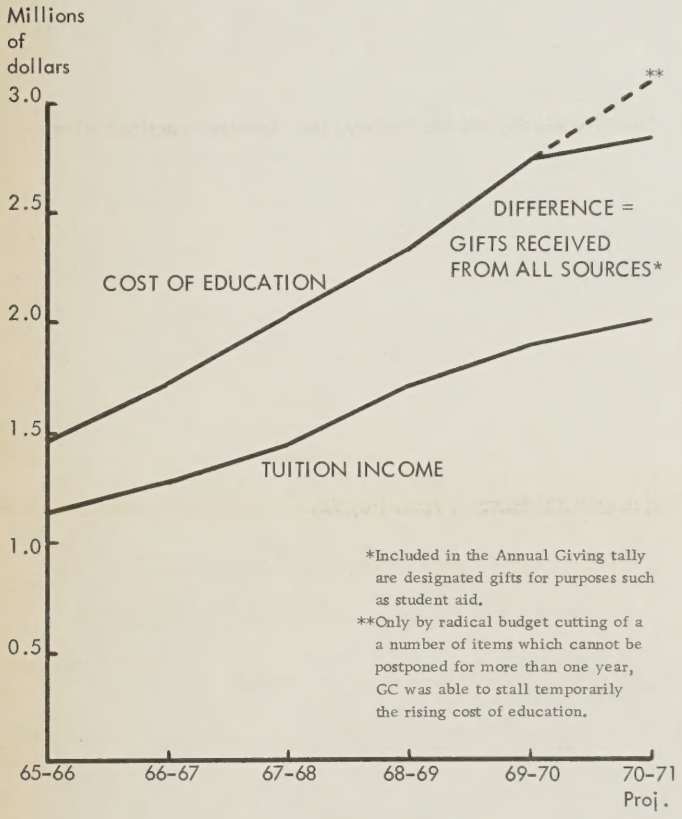
*Goshen College insists on being Christian, missionary, and service-oriented in addition to being intellectually respectable.

*Goshen's Study-Service Trimester abroad, a unique opportunity for all students to have foreign experience, is universally admired for its educational flexibility and Christian witness.

Belief in Goshen by alumni will stimulate a generous response from all Goshen's friends.

Immediately pressing is the requirement for gifts for current operations. The following data and charts help demonstrate the urgency of that requirement and illustrate the significance of help given in the past by alumni. They also show the importance of the 1971 Alumni Fund to make possible this year's educational program.

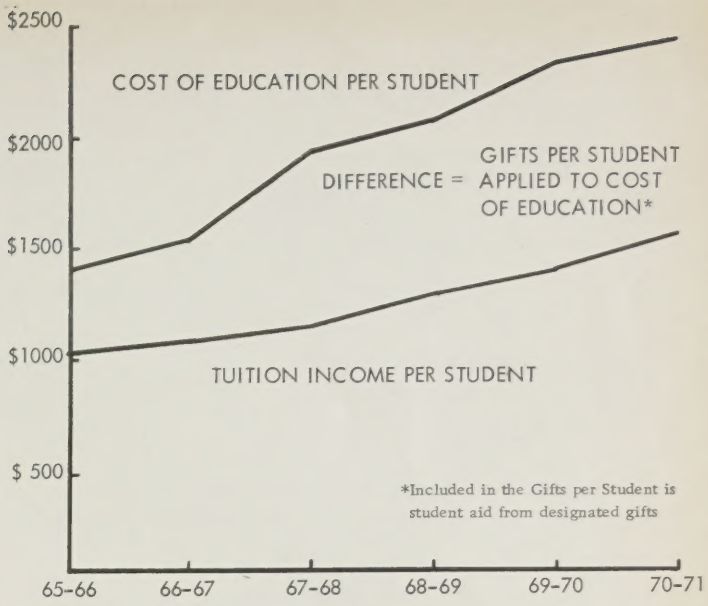


Six-year record of cost of education compared with tuition income

The chart above shows impressively how gifts from alumni and other sources help offset the full cost of a student's education. And, it shows the encouraging growth in dollar support from alumni and all other sources. You might say, too, that the alumni provide a "scholarship" to every student who attends Goshen College--as one was provided for you when you were a student. And, it shows how alumni giving has helped provide a remarkable buffer zone between the cost of a Goshen education to a student and the true cost of that education.

Although gift income has increased over the last several years, the dollars have had to be spread over an increasing number of students in a time of rapidly rising costs and expenses. In the period 1965-1970, the cost of education rose from $1,458,099 to $2,704,311 and the cost per full-time student rose from $1405 to $2365--an increase of 68.4 per cent. In the same period, gift income increased 29.4 per cent from $435,890 in 1965-66 to $563,545 in 1969-70, but gift income per full-time student rose only from $420 to $491, an increase of only 16.8 per cent. It is evident that Goshen's gift income from all sources has not been able to do the same job today it was doing six years ago, or earlier. And the projected costs of education and anticipated income for the 1970-71 year shows that Goshen will require a substantial amount to provide Christian higher education to students this year.

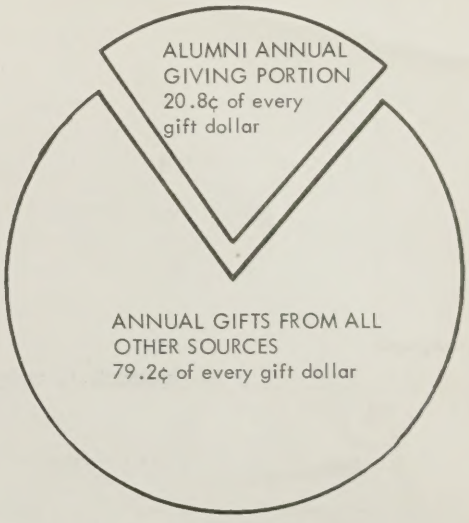
It is brutally clear that one of the main sources to help meet the steadily rising cost of quality Christian higher education is the Alumni



Six-year record of cost of education per full-time student compared with tuition income per full-time student

Annual Fund. To the woe of many parents, tuition costs have been rising regularly every year during the past six-year period. Nevertheless, this marked increase in dollars when expressed as a per cent of the total cost of operations has been on the downswing. The $1005 tuition in 1965-66 covered 71.5 per cent of a student's actual academic costs; the $1590 tuition in 1970-71 covers 66.3 per cent. Tuition--in spite of increases--has hovered at about the two-thirds mark, or slightly above, since 1965. It is apparent there is a significant gap in meeting total education expenses.

Happily that gap has been filled each year by gifts. The amounts in annual giving for operations from alumni have varied from year to year and have been complemented in recent years by such special gifts as $1,000,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Good for the library, $50,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schrock for the plaza, and $45,000 from Mrs. Fannie B. Severson for the organ.



Alumni annual giving is vital and significant when compared to annual gifts from all sources.

The significance of giving--each and every year--to Goshen can only be reflected partly in figures like those above. The generosity of Goshen's alumni has not only made possible (1) a steady improvement in the quality of educational programs, (2) the addition of a number of vital programs, such as SST and Experiments in Christian Higher Education, and (3) a strengthening of faculty and staff salary and retirement schedules, but it also has transformed the appearance and effectiveness of the campus by underwriting needed changes and remodeling in several buildings and landscaping and additions of sidewalks, driveways, and much needed parking lots.

Every single gift is important for the 1971 Alumni Fund. Happily, this is something each alumnus can do for Goshen College. And, at the same time, each can feel a sense of pride in making possible Goshen's quality program of Christian higher education.

John's Jottings

By John L. Frankenfield, Director of Alumni Relations and Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association

An alumnus recently wrote: "I have always felt extremely loyal to my college for the usual reasons: wonderful friends, absorbing classes (with an exception or two), friendly and interesting faculty, the discovery in graduate school that I didn't suffer in comparison with students who had been to bigger and better known schools. There is every reason for me to feel nothing but pleasure when I hear the name of Goshen College mentioned." And enclosed was a check.

To all of you who feel this way, I am grateful and happy for you. I am glad Goshen College is important to you. And it is just as important--although perhaps in different ways--to the 1,168 full-time students who enrolled this fall. It will be important, too, to those who enroll next fall, and the fall after that, and after that.

If Goshen College is to continue to offer top flight instruction, it has to get top quality, committed instructors. It has to keep up its plant. And it can't immediately pass the increase along to its customers. There is almost no college in the country that charges its students a tuition that covers the amount it spends on them. It is most heart-warming that so many alumni realize the value of Goshen College and are glad to give to it.

Goshen College is doing--and serving many young persons today. It would never in the world be able to do all this if it were not for its loyal and generous alumni.

Are You Misled . . .

Maybe you think all a college needs today is books. Maybe you have even vowed to leave your personal library to your alma mater in your will.

Wait. It takes more than books. It takes cash, checks, stocks, bonds, objects of art, houses, apartment buildings, farms--property of all kinds. More than that, you can obtain security for life and freedom from investment worries.

A gift of a farm, for example, can be exchanged for a life income agreement tailored to meet the donor's wishes. In fact, almost anything you own can be used to set up a life income plan.

Goshen College's donor-centered program of special and deferred giving offers many attractive opportunities to protect your family, conserve your estate, minimize your taxes, and give concrete expression to the concerns which have been most important to you during your life.

You'd be pleasantly surprised to find out how many ways you can assist GC. And be both donor and beneficiary.

Your inquiry to President Carl Kreider will be held in strictest confidence.

Campus Church Grows with "Word" Groups

By Mary Ann Halteman

Campus Church goers left a recent Sunday's 10:45 a.m. song-service perhaps a bit breathless but nonetheless refreshed.

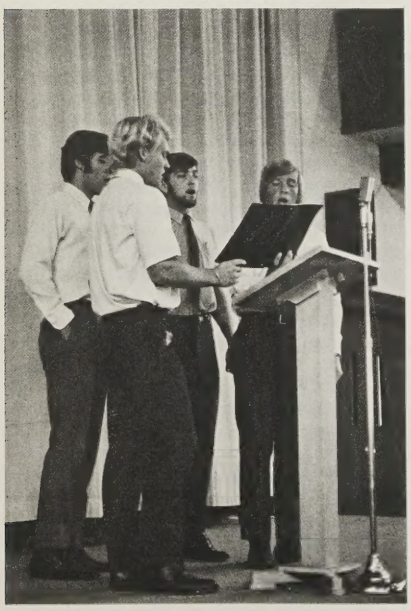
"I feel the spirit of brotherhood among us," said Rick Stiffney in his closing comments. In the spontaneous prayers that followed, the congregation reechoed Rick's feelings. "We cannot deny Your presence here now," someone prayed, and later lunch-line comments revealed similar positive responses to the morning's experience.

Full Participation

"It was more genuine," says senior Miriam DeVries. "Sometimes I think we try too hard and then things seem forced."

The structure of the service, though far from haphazard, was relaxing and unconstrained, calling for full congregational participation. When Mary Oyer opened the floor for hymn selections, the numbers tumbled out one on top of the other as worshippers paged rapidly from old traditionals like "Open the Wells of Grace and Salvation" to "I Bind My Heart This Tide" and back to "Lord, I Want to Be a Christian."

To many, the spirit in Campus Church Sunday morning is not a casually shrugged-off happening — to be continued next week. As Rick stated, "There has been a lot of prayer and energy put into Campus Church already this year. We must decide what it really means to be Christian and then give our whole selves."



A QUARTET was part of a guest service by Eastern Mennonite College's soccer team this fall. Services have also included folk hymns, solos, a "word" group baring their souls, a message, conversational prayer, and "concerns," which include personal testimonies.

A PACKED HOUSE in Assembly Hall on Sunday mornings is not unusual for Campus Church, and the service may run from 10 to 20 minutes beyond scheduled quitting time. Services have also been held in the Union and at "the dam."

Renewed Covenant

Whatever Campus Church may appear to be on Sunday mornings, its real life goes beyond the public hour of worship and reaches deeply into the lives of many throughout the week. At a membership meeting soon after school started, covenant members from last year evaluated their commitments to Christ and to one another, resolving in the renewal of these commitments and to be less lax in carrying them out.

Church in Groups

The formation of small reference or "word groups" is again a central focus of Campus Church.

"It is in the context of a small group that we experience the true church," says Everett Thomas, chairman of Campus Church coordinating group. The membership covenant includes not only an affirmation of faith in Christ, but also a commitment to become involved with others who share the covenant.

The purpose of a "word group" is derived from the four letters of its name — Worship, Outreach, Reinforcement, and Discernment. Although there is some guidance in forming small groups, members are encouraged to start "word" groups on their own and decide among themselves when they will meet and what they will do.

Anticipation

Everett Thomas, like many others involved in Campus Church, expresses real excitement for the year. "And man, our biggest boost has been these freshmen. They come with uninhibited dedication," he says, "and claim Campus Church as their own, which it rightly is."

With enthusiasm and renewed commitment there will be, no doubt, many more happenings in future Sunday worship services. What happens there, however, will be largely a reflection of what is happening to campus individuals and small groups in their struggles to follow Christ throughout the week.

— From "The Record"

THE LORD'S SUPPER was celebrated by Campus Church members on a sunny October Sunday morning at "the dam." Mugs served as communion cups.

DR. ROBERT C. BUSCHERT (left) is director of the Turner Lab, named in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Basil S. Turner (center). Dr. Albert J. Meyer, research professor, (second from right) and John K. Gotwals, assistant professor, are on the lab staff.

HEART OF THE LAB is the double-source double-crystal spectrometer, designed by Dr. Buschert, for research in solid state physics. Other equipment includes a computer (in background) with an extended core memory module and teletypewriter input/output.

Turner Lab Boosts Science Teaching and Research Effort

The Turner Precision X-Ray Measurements Laboratory, a center for research and learning about solid state physics and x-ray diffraction at Goshen College, is now in operation. It is the only one of its kind at any college or university in the United States, thanks to the vision of Basil S. Turner, director and retired president of the CTS Corporation, of Elkhart, Ind. A generous gift from the Basil S. Turner Foundation made the lab possible.

Dr. Carl Kreider, acting president, says that the opening of the lab gives birth to a new phase of scientific research at the college. Faculty as well as student involvement will be of greater magnitude than anything ever attempted before.

The lab is of "tremendous importance" to the physics faculty, who now number three professors, three Turner Laboratory Fellows, and a departmental assistant. Dr. Kreider explained that the physics faculty wants to engage in the kind of research ordinarily carried on only at a large university. The Turner Lab affords them the best of a research-oriented university and a church-related liberal arts college.

Research as Well as Educational Goals

With a facility the stature of the Turner Lab, Goshen can attract strong students. The full-fledged laboratory, with both research and learning objectives, provides experiences a student would normally receive only on the graduate level, and then only at a large university.

In addition, all students, regardless of majors or interests, will gain in their understanding of science. Dr. Kreider said the goals of the lab and of the college are parallel: "students must have a lively appreciation of what science can and does accomplish in today's world." With the Turner Lab this goal can be met effectively. Students will obtain useful skills in design of experiments, for example, useful in any field of science, not just solid state physics. Second, through his work in ongoing research, he gains understanding of what science is, how to express questions so that they lead to experiments and how to test different possibilities.

A grant of $125,000 from the foundation, of which Mr. and Mrs. Basil S. Turner and their daughter, Mrs. M. D. Rydson are trustees, provides for equipment and basic salary support for staff time in the new lab over five years. In making their gift, Mr. and Mrs. Turner said, "We give this laboratory for its appropriate uses; to guard well and expand solidly the understanding of the intricate patterns of our Creator, to provide valuable research experiences for many undergraduates, to make possible a closer association between student and research scientist."

Heart of the Lab

The heart of the laboratory is a double-source double-crystal spectrometer designed by Dr. Robert C. Buschert, professor of physics and director of the lab. The instrument compares the distance between layers of atoms in each of two highly perfect crystals by measuring very small changes in the angle at which an x-ray beam is reflected from each of the crystals. It is a technical advance that makes possible a degree of precision in measurements that was previously unattainable.

From a scientist's point of view the lab is important for two reasons. First, it will provide more understanding in the arrangements of atoms in solid materials. Second, the research has immediate applications in the design of solid state devices such as transistors, light sensitive crystals for use in television-type cameras, and, possibly, oscillators where high accuracy in frequency control in communications and in timekeeping is required.

In addition to the spectrometer, the lab and adjacent rooms contain several pieces of auxiliary equipment. Among them are an x-ray diffraction generator, PDP 8/L computer, motor control and data acquisition system, rf oscillator digital angle position indicator and FM vibration detection system, diamond wheel wafering machine, diamond saw, and abrasive lap. Other items are planned for construction or purchase.

One person has commented that the Turner Laboratory is a vital part of Goshen College, yet its students and faculty live in a world bigger than physics, with many concerns touching it. The day is gone when the scientist could bury himself in his work and brush off ethical questions such as, What will be the impact of my work? What is my responsibility as part of the family of man and as a child of God? Today more is needed than technical geniuses who are morally and ethically illiterate It is significant that the Turner Laboratory has been located at Goshen College where intensive study and research in the physical aspects of the natural world occur within an awareness of the interdependence of man and nature and of man's relationships with God and his fellowman.

A task of first priority

Center Will Pursue Anabaptist Vision For the '70's, '80's, and '90's

The thrust of Goshen College's new Center for Studies in Christian Discipleship will be to unfold what the life style and witness of Christians in today's world should be.

Launched last April, the center began earlier than anyone had anticipated because of a timely, generous gift from an interested businessman. C. Norman Kraus, director of the center and professor of religion, in a convocation address, "Vision for the '70's," explained the center's uniqueness.

He stressed that first priority is the serious exploration of the meaning of the New Testament and Anabaptist heritage for life in the last quarter of the 20th century. "This is the ongoing task and emphasis of the Center," he said.

Second is the continuing scholarly job to revise, reinterpret, and reevaluate the nature of the Anabaptist vision. He pointed to the scholars of the 1920's and later who rediscovered and uncovered the drama of Anabaptism, "the radical reformation of the 16th century that marked the beginning of the modern era of Western Christendom." The roots of that heritage and the radicality of the forefathers must be examined further "to come to terms with who we are and whence we have come."

Two Concerns Uppermost

The center grew out of two converging concerns. One was to emphasize the college's profile as distinctly "church" and standing specifically in the Anabaptist heritage. The second was to renew and strengthen the life and service between the college and its constituencies.

Dr. Kraus explained that within the college community there is a genuine desire to fortify the "dialogical process" within the college itself and between the college and all those who have a direct stake in its programs and products, including those who are served as well as those who have a right to be served. The problem, as he sees it, is: "How can the college remain in the best tradition an agent of modification and change, testing and challenging as well as undergirding and building in today's social order?"

The next step forward is to build "understanding, respect, and mutual cooperation in the human community." This must be done extensively and intensively on campus as well as within the constituency. The center will help uniquely by combining undergraduate education and continuing education to make possible formal conversation between college and constituency.

Giant Steps Already Taken

The dialogue will build on the two giant steps that have already been taken, Prof. Kraus said. In the late 1950's Mennonites began to become aware of the larger social and political context in which they lived and recognized the many religious and secular ideas in the social order. They began to reject isolationism and withdrawal from society and its social, political, and economic problems.

Today, the thrust outward must be continued. If Christians are isolationists, they deny their basic character. But, Dr. Kraus emphasized, "We need an adequate theology of involvement to be reconcilers in conflict. We need to understand better what we as Christians must be doing in the world. We have barely begun our direct involvement and work with the poor and the oppressed, so we cannot relax. However, the time is here to give more reflective attention to who we are and what we should be doing. We must attend to the reconciliation of polarities that have developed among us."

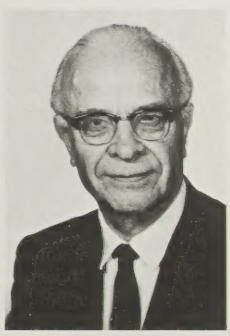
For students the center will provide a variety of seminars, workshops, experimental field experiences, encouragement and guidance in student projects organized around special interests, visiting lecturers and convocation speakers, intercollegiate gatherings, and off-campus seminars.

For the constituency, the center is set up so that laymen as well as college staff can benefit from the resources of practical knowledge and experience each brings to the task. Together, they will identify and discuss issues that confront them and work at solutions.

Plans call for the center to offer conferences, seminars, and workshops at strategic locations throughout the denomination. It will sponsor campus gatherings on topics of concern to such groups as businessmen, farmers, teachers, medical doctors, nurses, and other professions.

The center will encourage alumni and interested persons to study or do research for a short term in a field of mutual interest. There will be opportunity for college graduates to study theology and Anabaptist-Mennonite history for a year, or do research on a topic of mutual interest. Stipends will be available to help cover costs.

DR. C. NORMAN KRAUS, professor of religion, is director of the new Center for Studies in Christian Discipleship. The aim of the center, launched last April, is to explore seriously the meaning of the New Testament and Anabaptist heritage for life in the last quarter of the 20th century.



DR. CORNELIUS KRAHN, Bethel College (Kans.) professor, was the first lecturer under the center's auspices this fall. A church historian and theologian, he lectured on Anabaptism and what he found in his native Russia when he returned there last summer.

Kiln Is Ready for Ceramics Projects

THE NEW KILN, near the southeastern corner of Memorial Library, was recently completed under the direction of Dr. Marvin Bartel (standing at right). Bartel, associate professor of art, joined the faculty this fall and teaches, among other subjects, ceramics. The gas-fired kiln is just outside the ceramics work area on the ground floor of the library.

Two Bequests Received

Two bequests have been received by Goshen College this fall, both for $1,000 each.

They were from the estate of Edith Wenger Morgan, of Wellman, Iowa, and the estate of Mary Neu Lamb, of Flint, Mich.

The college receives these gifts gratefully.

Liechty Leaves PR Post

John Liechty will leave the post of associate director of college relations to become business manager of the Middlebury Community Schools on January 1.

At Goshen College since 1964, Liechty was director of alumni relations and more recently director of special and deferred giving. Under his leadership the quarterly "Heritage Newsletter" and a series of supporting materials were launched.

Liechty, who had experience in sales, business, and public relations before joining the college staff, will be responsible for purchasing, classified employees, maintenance and upkeep of physical facilities, and some administrative duties at his new post.

J. Robert Kreider, director of college relations, will be interim director of special and deferred giving until Liechty's successor is named.

Independent Study Has New Features

What has been termed a "real breakthrough" in independent study is now available to all students at Goshen College.

The plan provides for more opportunity in independent study and greater flexibility in students' courses of studies. For a faculty member it make possible the time he needs to lead the study at no loss or inconvenience to students in his other courses.

According to the new set-up, independent study courses will be promoted for the 3 1/2-week terms of the spring trimester, when a student can devote full time to one project. Any course proposed by 10 or more students who agree to enroll in it will be offered if a faculty member is free to teach it. Courses may be taught off campus or on campus.

Already three courses, all for off-campus study, have been proposed for the 1971 spring trimester: a study tour of Ireland, a seminar in marine biology at a Florida key, and a seminar in drama and music at Stratford, Ontario. In addition, tentative plans call for seminars and independent study at the new Center for Studies in Christian Discipleship. Dr. C. Norman Kraus, director of the center, called the new plan "a happy coincidence" that will make possible the development of course offerings at the center to small groups of students.

During the last couple years a number of courses were offered in response to student requests. One person commented that their success may well have been in part a result of their spontaneity, and perhaps not nearly as successful if they had been frozen in the curriculum.

The courses, for which no plans have been made for offering on a regular basis, included a seminar in interpersonal living, a seminar in Anabaptist values in a contemporary college, a seminar on the mission of the campus church, a seminar on general education, a seminar on the nature of man, and a seminar on community living.

Independent study in years not too long ago was considered as tutoring. Later, the term came to be used more by students who needed a specific course which was not offered at a time convenient to them. Now the term takes on the aura of innovation.
